NO MORE MEN ADMITTED TO RELIEF CAMPS

Commons Is Informed By Labor Minister Rogers Rules Now Being Followed Look to Closing of the Centres at Earliest Possible Date

Ottawa, March 16.—Labor Minister Rogers announced in the House of Commons this afternoon no more men were being admitted to relief camps, in line with the Government's determination to close them as soon as possible.

The minister was asked by Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, about men who left British Columbia camps and were stranded in Vancouver. The member said the men could not return to the camps and the city refused to look after them.

Mr. Rogers said no more admissions or readmissions were being made to the camps. To admit them would defeat the government's intention to close the camps as soon as possible.

Instead of an allowance of twenty cents a day, men left in the camps were being given $15 a month, their board, clothing, tobacco and other necessities, Mr. Rogers said.

The Vancouver man, numbering sixty-five, left the camps before the wage increase went into effect, Mr. Rogers said. Premier Pattullo of British Columbia and Mayor McGeer of Vancouver had advised Ottawa of the plight of the men. The government advised them the men should be cared for temporarily by Vancouver and British Columbia, Mr. Rogers said, referring to the increased relief grants which went into effect in December.

Murder Defence Pleads Insanity

John H. Booth Faces Judge and Jury at Assize Opening For Shooting of His Wife in Sidney Home

John Horatio Booth, forty-six-year-old, 112-pounds, unemployed and father of nine children, sat in the prisoner's box under police guard at the opening of the criminal assizes here today, charged with the murder of his wife, Elizabeth Reid Booth, by shooting her with two shots from a rifle, on December 17, at their home in Sidney.

When Booth indicated that there was no lawyer to defend him because he had no money to pay for his defence, Mr. Justice Robertson asked Robert D. Harvey, who was in court, to undertake the defence. Mr. Harvey accepted.

Mr. Harvey indicated, when Dr. J. H. Moore, autopsy surgeon, was on the stand, that the defence would be temporary insanity. From Taylor on "Medical Jurisprudence," he read the statement that there was "nothing except conduct to prove whether those on the border line are sane or insane." Dr. Moore replied, emphatically speaking, that was the case.

Alberta Social Credit Needs Men Straining at Bit, Declares Premier

Canadian Press
Calgary, March 16.—"You don't need Douglas (Major C. H. Douglas, founder of Social Credit theories), and you don't need me," Premier Aberhart of Alberta told followers at his Prophetic Bible Institute here yesterday as he denied "rumors" about himself and asserted he was not playing a "double-hand" with the people of the province.

Mr. Aberhart said he was "trying my best" to bring the provincial government's chief reconstruction adviser from London to Alberta, but he was unwilling to transfer "full authority" to Major Douglas while he retained the responsibility.

Bond Conversion Soon In Alberta

Failing Offer From Holders, Government Is About to Introduce Compulsory Scheme as Embodied in Bill Drafted For Legislature

Edmonton, March 16.—Legislation to call in all present issues of Alberta bonds and to replace them with new issues bearing interest at 2.75 or 3 per cent will be introduced within the next ten days in the Alberta Legislature, it was announced today by Premier Aberhart.

By that means, he said, the government would bring about compulsory conversion of $160,000,000 provincial debt, and so save something over $7,000 each day in interest charges.

At the same time, the Premier said, the government was studying possibility of invoking legislation to (Turn to Page 16, Col. 7)

Council, Turning Aside Hitler's Treaty Proposals, Will Vote On Rhineland

PREDICTS BIG TRAVEL YEAR

W. M. Neal, General Manager C.P.R. Western Lines, Says Railways Ready For It

Canada is going to experience one of its biggest travel years during the coming season, in the opinion of W. M. Neal, general manager of Canadian Pacific western lines, who arrived in the city today from Winnipeg on his spring inspection trip to the Coast.

"Last year there was a definite increase in travel and we look for a further improvement during the coming year," said Mr. Neal in an interview at the Empress Hotel this morning.

"We are making arrangements to adequately handle the expected increased tourist business this year. The people are moving more freely, and the Vancouver jubilee will bring many to the Coast."

Mr. Neal is accompanied on his present trip by Mrs. Neal and expects to remain on Vancouver Island until Friday next. In the interim he will inspect the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, proceeding as far as Courtenay.

Good crop news was brought by Mr. Neal from the prairies.

With an average growing season the prairies this year will produce a 400,000,000 bushel wheat crop, he believes.

Precipitation is coming back to normal and he believes that the long period of drought which has afflicted the prairie provinces has ended.

HITLER SAYS HE IS GERMANY

Only One Opinion in Reich, Says Fuehrer in Frankfurt Speech

Associated Press
Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, March 16.—Adolf Hitler, making his third speech in the Reichstag election campaign, declared in this remilitarized Rhineland town tonight that "the world must know there are not two or three different opinions in Germany, but only one."

"The spokesman for Germany represents this unity," said Hitler, referring to himself.

"I do not need this election for myself," he said, "for I can stand on my own feet."

"I want this for the benefit of foreigners. They must know Germany is united."

He sent these observations across Germany's borders at the outset of a speech in the Reichstag election campaign, a repetition of the one he made in Munich Saturday evening.

The Reichstag election is set for March 29.

Six nations headed by France opposed Hitler's insistence on bringing his peace proposals up simultaneously with the discussion of the Rhineland reoccupation.

The other nations with France were Turkey, Spain, Russia, Poland and Roumania.

VOTE WAS UNANIMOUS
The Council then voted unanimously to accept the French proposition and to reject the second.

The vote was interpreted as tantamount to a qualified refusal of Hitler's conditions.

The Council was agreed Germany was entitled to sit in the Council on an equal footing with the other Locarno powers—that is, without the right to vote.

The Council ruled, however, that the Reichsfuehrer's proposals were a matter, not for the Council, but for the signatories of the Locarno Pact.

It was stated that, owing to their status as interested parties, in the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Portland, Ore., March 16.—Has Oregon a new scientific discovery, or is it just another fish story?

Naturalists were skeptical when told that Jack McDaniels of Redmond had hauled an octopus from the Metolius River in Central Oregon, several hundred miles from the ocean.

Stanley G. Jewett, head of the United States biological survey in Oregon, said he would investigate.

Saint John, N.B., March 16.—In the most spectacular fire here since the Sand Point waterfront was razed in 1931, the plant of Canada Veneers Ltd., at Coldbrook Park, was leveled yesterday evening.

The plant, its machinery and stock are a total loss, with officials today estimating the loss at $150,000. There was some insurance carried.

Visitor From Heavens Sighted From New Jersey Is Seen Also From Canada's Arctic Coast

Canadian Press via Canadian Government Radio Service
Coppermine, Corporation Gulf, March 16.—The large meteor Friday night reported in Saturday's press was visible at Coppermine for approximately two seconds. It was bright bluish-green.

Coppermine Gulf is on the Arctic Ocean and Coppermine, a government wireless station, is 100 miles north of the Arctic Circle. The meteor was reported from New York, N.Y., early Saturday morning, where it rattled the windows and awoke many from slumber as it shot across the sky and then vanished apparently into the Atlantic Ocean.

France Asks League Condemn Germany

Locarno Pact, France and Belgium, as well as Germany, would not be entitled to vote in the League Council meeting.

This decision disposes of the difficulty by which, if Germany should attend the Council on an equal footing with other members of the League, she could block the unanimous decision by voting against it herself.

VICTORY FOR FRANCE

The French delegates said they regarded the verdict of the secret session as a decisive victory for France. A French spokesman predicted the League now would condemn Germany, since Great Britain and Italy "have given France their assurances that for them the Locarno Pact still exists."

He added the French then could go home with what would amount to a triple alliance of Great Britain, Italy and France.

"Other powers," said the French spokesman, "may then discuss Hitler's proposals, but France never will."

League officials, immediately after the secret session, began drafting a message advising the German Government of the decision, which was made subject to ratification in a public session.

COMPROMISE SEEN

In British quarters, the Council's decision was interpreted as a compromise between the British and French of two hitherto irreconcilable viewpoints.

It was said the British now were willing to vote for the condemnation of Germany as a Locarno treaty violator, but that should the French return home, Great Britain would be free to start on her own negotiations with Germany regarding Hitler's peace proposals.

The private meeting of the League Council, called for this morning to consider Hitler's terms, was canceled, and the public session, scheduled for this afternoon, was converted into a private meeting to discuss the situation. Later the brief public session was held.

This forenoon Council delegates, including those of the Little Entente (Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania) and Soviet Russia, held a series of private discussions.

WORD DISPUTED

Meantime a lighter touch was added to the crisis by a dispute between interpreters. Chancellor Hitler's note of acceptance of the League invitation, in the German text contained

Documents Published in U.S. Show How British-Japan Alliance Ended

Associated Press
Washington, March 16.—Hitler's secret diplomatic documents showed today that sixteen years ago the United States sought changes in an Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The alliance was consummated between Great Britain and Japan in 1911 for a ten-year period.

The diplomatic correspondence published today by the State Department in the course of routine printing of old documents showed that as early as October 2, 1919, the United States was concerned lest the alliance might be extended, on its expiration in 1921, in a form prejudicial to the United States in the Far East.

On that date William Phillips, Acting Secretary of State, who holds the same position now, cabled John W. Davis, United States ambassador to Great Britain, that the State Department desired "particularly to learn whether there is on the part of Great Britain a tendency to broaden or to restrict the recognition of Japan's special interests in eastern Asia."

On May 10, 1920, Frank L. Polk, then Acting Secretary, cabled Mr. Davis that "it seems likely Great Britain and Japan will renew their alliance."

"We are hopeful, however, Mr. Polk added, 'that in making this renewal Great Britain will insist on including the terms of the alliance such provisions as shall safeguard the principle of equal opportunity in China and the rights of China more effectively.'"

"We also hope it will be indicated the alliance is not aimed at America."

Mr. Polk asked Mr. Davis "to frankly inform us of your views as to whether it would be practical for you to suggest to the Foreign Office in an unofficial and personal manner that the alliance might be changed in the way we have suggested, which would be a great aid to Anglo-American co-operation in the Far East and be very pleasing to American public opinion."

Mr. Davis notified the department on June 7 he had conveyed informally to the Foreign Office the substance of the American suggestions. He had been assured that "it will be fully considered."

Later, both governments agreed not to renew the alliance. Its principles were replaced by a series of treaties, dealing with the Far East and signed at the Washington Arms Conference in 1922.

Must Go Ahead Says Aberhart

The Alberta government would never repudiate its debt, he declared. The Premier denied he was working with the bankers and said neither bankers nor financiers had anything to do with the hiring of R. J. Major of Montreal, special financial adviser to the Alberta government.

"I am against repudiation of debt," Premier Aberhart asserted. "We must be honest. We cannot repudiate our responsibility. Let us be real. We cannot do the impossible, but we can strive to give equity. That is our aim."

He told his followers they would soon be able to recall members of the Alberta Legislature, but in the meantime he intended to press ahead on the task before him. He had been advised to give Major Douglas full authority in Alberta.

"Should I make him Premier?" Mr. Aberhart asked, adding the Premier bore the responsibility. He added he was willing to co-operate 90 per cent, but the government "must have some say."

STRAINING AT BIT

"What we require here is not people who want to be coaxed and cajoled," he continued. "We want men straining at the bit to get into action."

The greatest cause "disaster would come from failure to press forward," Premier Aberhart stated. "We can wander around in the wilderness afraid to go forward, but that is not my wish."

"You shall soon have the right to recall," he concluded. "In the meantime I am trying my level best to banish poverty from the midst of the people. . . . If we cannot maintain your confidence, we won't continue."

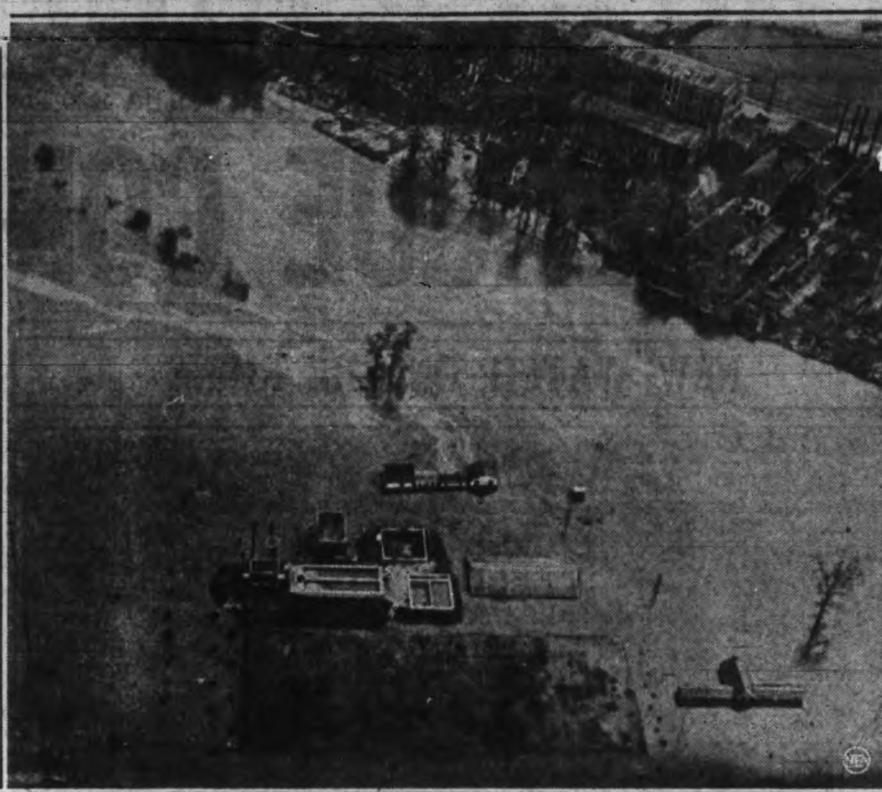

TWO TRAVEL FAR TO FACE TRIAL

Canadian Press
Edmonton, March 16.—Two men facing charges spent the week-end in Edmonton en route from their homes at Tupper Creek, B.C., to Vancouver, where they will be tried for the murder of Albert Deman, a northern homesteader, on December 19.

The men, George Miller and Christiaan Mueller, arrived here late Saturday and left for the coast early Sunday.

The body of Deman was found on the trail leading from his home south-east of Pouce Coupe, evidence of a struggle was found and the victim had been clubbed to death. Arrest of Mueller and Miller was made early in February.

FLOOD CREATES SEA IN SHADOW OF SKYSCRAPERS

The great industrial sections of the New York metropolitan region were hard hit as the waterways along which many of the great mills and factories are located went over their banks like other streams in the eight northeastern seaboard states swept by unprecedented spring thaw floods. This air view shows how property along the Passaic River, N.J., almost in the shadow of skyscrapers, was isolated by flood waters.

London, March 16.—Representatives of the Dominions are conferring today with government officials in Downing Street in order to keep in touch with the European situation. Hon. Inquiries in Dominion circles indicated the self-governing portions of the empire are lining up with Britain in her efforts for peace.

revenues or assuming some of the services which are now financed by the city, the delegation will inform the Finance Minister.

Otherwise, Mayor McGee said, the city will not be able to carry on its obligations to citizens by way of public services, and at the same time carry the load of bond interest.

Members of the delegation are: Mayor McGee, M.P.; George Kidd, a director of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company; J. E. McMillen of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; J. P. Nicholls, Macaulay, Nicoll, MacLellan and Co. Limited; Q. F. Laing, Bank of Montreal; the city's bankers, and J. Y. McCarter, president of the Board of Trade.

"Last year, with the sanction of the Provincial Legislature," the mayor said, "the city carried on by using about $640,000 of capital funds, which were available from unexpended by-law balances. This money was used for current purposes. It is gone, and there is no such fund to help us this year."

"Some provision will have to be made under which the provincial government will either increase the source of civic revenue for Vancouver, or it must take over some of the services which the city now carries."

"Otherwise," he said, "the city cannot meet its obligations to the public and its obligations to bondholders. It is to present the Vancouver situation and urge provincial action that the delegation will meet Mr. Hart on Tuesday."

Junior Stockholders Argue Appeal on Claims They Made When Old System Absorbed By C.N.R.

Canadian Press
London, March 16.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today began its hearing of the appeal of junior stockholders of the old Grand Trunk Railway from Ontario court rulings concerning the terms under which the Grand Trunk was acquired by the Canadian National Railways in 1920.

Counsel for the plaintiffs, Cyril Radcliffe, said that George Lovibond, in whose name the action was originally begun in Ontario, acting on behalf of all registered holders of preference and common stocks, alleged that the company, without lawful authority and in breach of its duty to the stockholders, removed their names from the company's register.

The plaintiff coupled with this a claim for damages for breach of agreement.

Hearing the appeal were Lord Atkin, Lord Thankerton, Baron Russell, Lord Killewren, Sir Frederick Maughan and Sir George Rankin.

The action was brought in the Ontario courts after an arbitration board had found the common and preference shares of the G.T.R. having a certificate value of almost $175,000,000—were valueless. Holders of the stocks—most of them living in England—sought for a declaration from the Ontario courts that they had been deprived illegally of their stock holdings. The action was dismissed by the Ontario Supreme Court, which was upheld by the Ontario Court of Appeal. A year ago the Privy Council granted the right to appeal to that body.

and former wife of his brother, Alexis.

Physicians present at the time of the accident, found death had resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage. An inhalator was used for more than an hour before efforts to revive him were abandoned.

The mishap occurred in the fourth round of a polo match between Serge's Georgians and the Texans, captained by Cecil Smith.

Mdivani swerved across the line of play for a daring reach, and his pony crashed into Smith's. The two players came down, and Mdivani's rearing mount kicked him.

Witnessed by BRIDE
The Georgian's bride of less than two months and her mother, Mrs. B. Van Allen, were among the spectators.

The young woman ran to her husband's side and collapsed at the news the physicians gave her.

The game was the final and deciding one of the southeastern polo championship, in progress here for the last three weeks. The Texans were leading 4 to 2 at the time of the mishap.

It was ironic that the game Serge loved so well brought his death. He played constantly, even interrupting his honeymoon aboard a yacht in the Florida Keys for a recent game at Miami Beach.

PURELY ACCIDENTAL
Larry Waterbury, member of the original "Big Four of Polo," who was present at the game yesterday, said the tragedy was purely accidental.

Serge's first wife was Pola Negri.

LEAGUE FACES GREATEST TEST

French Say It May Be Wrecked as Result of Rhineland Crisis

Paris, March 16.—Possibility the League of Nations might be wrecked by the Rhineland crisis appeared greater today in the eyes of informed French quarters.

Adolf Hitler's reply to the League invitation to attend the Council session at London, refusing to consider the League on a basis of full equality and consideration of the Reich proposals for new treaties, aroused widespread French indignation.

Hitler's response, informed sources said, increased France's determination to press for League condemnation of Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland.

The government drew its trump card—a withdrawal of France and her allies from the League—ready to place it on the Council table if the League should attempt to consider Germany's breaking of the old treaties before negotiating for new pacts.

The French press denounced the German note, delivered to London yesterday in reply to last Saturday's invitation, as "impudent, insolent, malicious, reprehensible and hypocritical."

Jurors not empaneled were ordered to report again at the opening of court Tuesday morning.

Everett, to give evidence about the shooting of their mother by their father.

When the summoned jurors were called, Mr. Harvey charged the women whose names had come to the top in Registrar Oswald Barton's drawing from the jury ballot box. Thus Eleanor Palmer and Dorothy Sehl were freed from being empaneled on the murder trial.

Frank I. Doherty asked the court excuse him because of pressure of business.

"The court can't excuse a busy business man," said Mr. Justice Robertson. "It is a privilege of the citizens to serve on a jury. Every citizen should join in jury duty."

His fellow jurors then elected Mr. Doherty their foreman.

The judge announced the jury would be locked up and kept from all contact with outsiders until they had reached their verdict at the end of the trial. Sheriff Goggin placed the jurors under a special guard at noon, marched them to a downtown hotel for lunch. Tonight they will sleep in a downtown hotel under special guards.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE ADJOURNED
Before the Booth murder trial got under way, the manslaughter charge against George Evans was called. As driver of the motor truck turning into a main highway in Equinault, he is charged with contributing to the death of Roland Robert Ryley, who was on a motorcycle which crashed into the motor truck.

H. K. Davey, defence counsel for Evans, asked the court for an adjournment because Mrs. Jennings, one of the essential witnesses, had been under an operation at the Jubilee Hospital and would not be available before the end of the month. At the suggestion of Mr. Davey, agreed to by Prosecutor Hall, the justice set April 6 for the opening of this trial.

MORTICIAN TESTIFIES
Mason Sands, mortician, was the first witness called by the prosecution. He said he had been summoned to Sidney on December 17 last. At the Booth house he found the body of Mrs. Booth lying on the floor at the side of the bed. He brought the body into town to his mortuary where in the embalming he removed certain clothing.

"The garments were all very badly soiled with blood and saturated," Mr. Sands said in reply to questions from Mr. Hall. "They were wet with blood."

The clothes were held up before the jury and identified by Mr. Sands. Provincial Police Constable A. O. Carmichael testified he had attended the autopsy on Mrs. Booth's body performed by Dr. J. H. Moore on December 17. Dr. Moore had given him wads and pellets he understood were taken from the abdomen of Mrs. Booth. These wads and pellets were taken to the government analyst and placed in alcohol in two bottles. The two bottles were produced and shown to court. The constable said Mr. Sands had given him the blood-saturated clothing, which he placed in cold storage.

ADMITS FAMILY TROUBLES
Rose Reid, nurse, sister-in-law of the prisoner, was called next. The court had to wait while Chief Usher Jones went out to get a special Bible before she would take her oath. She testified the Booths had been married nineteen years. She said there were six living children, ranging from Betty, eighteen, to Clara, not yet two years old. There had been three other children who had died. The family had been on relief last December. Mrs. Booth had been going out to work in the cannery at Sidney.

Cross-examined by Mr. Harvey, Miss Reid admitted she had consulted Dr. Manning about the health of the Booth children and about whether the mother should be nursing them. She said there had been an inquest into the death of one of the Booth children. She knew her sister was anxious to get a divorce from her husband and that a younger sister should supply the evidence. Mrs. Booth had not said to her that she wanted to be with another man. She did not know about the reports that a man other than the husband had been the father of at least one of the children. She knew one of the men who was mentioned as going to the house.

In reply to Mr. Hall, Miss Reid said it was not any time in particular, but years ago, that she had had "harsh words" with her sister, Mrs. Booth.

"Did Mrs. Booth ever strike you during any of these quarrels?" Mr. Harvey asked.

"Yes, she had the habit of always wanting to punch," Miss Reid replied.

Miss Reid could not recall the striking of one of the children by the mother with a gun. The child's mental condition was "very poor."

TELLS OF AUTOPSY
Dr. J. H. Moore testified regarding the autopsy results.

Members of the jury empaneled were Kenneth E. Byres, David Chisholm, Kenneth Doody, Frank I. Doherty, David K. Davidson, Neil A. McKinnon, Peter B. Alexander, Leonard C. Evans, Albert Mead, Louis H. Jarvis, Alfred J. Ferguson, and Robert Mase.

Jurors not empaneled were ordered to report again at the opening of court Tuesday morning.

Coal Strike Threat in Wales

Eastern Canadian Imports
May Be Affected By Dispute; Still Unsettled

Canadian Press
Swansea, Wales, March 16.—Welsh anthracite coal fields today faced the possibility of a strike likely to have serious effects on the eastern Canadian anthracite season, opening in a few weeks' time.

Already seven freighters are lying fully loaded with more than 70,000 tons here and at Port Talbot, awaiting news that the St. Lawrence is again navigable to Montreal. But subsequent shipments may be jeopardized.

Lodges of the associated committees of workmen met here yesterday and a scheduled list of disputes involving the various pits of the Amalgamated Anthracite Collieries Limited was submitted.

It was resolved that unless a settlement is reached in the meantime, fourteen days' notice should be tendered on March 23. The disputes relate to minimum wages and customs privileges.

VALERA SAYS IRELAND GAINS

THREE DEATHS INVESTIGATED

Police Believe Hungarian Killed Two Girls and Self in Alberta

Canadian Press
Lethbridge, Alta., March 16.—Double murder and suicide was believed by police today to be the solution of three deaths at the farm of C. R. Elison, eight miles north of Turin, Alta. Turin is about twenty-five miles northeast of Lethbridge.

Horribly mangled by shotgun pellets, the bodies of two daughters of Elison, Alaire and Laurene, aged eighteen and sixteen, respectively, were found at the farm on Saturday. The corpse of Louis Gsaba, thirty-six, was found, burned to a skeleton, in the barn. Mr. Elison's fine farm home and barn were smoldering ruins.

Police believe the two girls were murdered during the absence of other members of the family, Saturday afternoon, and Gsaba committed suicide in the barn after setting fire to both structures.

Royal Canadian Police were investigating today. Coroner D. B. Fowler has ordered an inquest to open here Wednesday morning.

Gsaba, a Hungarian, was hired man at the Elison farm. Neighbors, noticing the fire, arrived in time to remove the girls' bodies from the burning home before it was demolished.

ROBBERS FLEE

Chicago, March 16 (Canadian Press).—"Stick 'em up," commanded a young man who boarded an almost deserted street car here early yesterday and pressed a revolver against Thomas Gough, the conductor.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself?" Gough chided, pushing the weapon to one side. "Don't you know this is the Lenten season?" The young man stared, blinked and fled.

Exports Increase, States President in Review of Free State Affairs

Associated Press
Dublin, March 16.—The last year was one of peace and ordered progress in the Irish Free State.

With the co-operation of the masses of the people in its political and economic objectives, the government was able to advance to a further stage in the programme for social and economic reconstruction, bringing the objective of reasonable self-sufficiency within reach.

The operation of the economic programme of the last four years now has begun visibly to bear fruit. Trade returns in 1935 showed a heavy drop in imports as Irish mills went in production. Imports for the preceding years were, of course, abnormally swollen by items of capital equipment.

EXPORTS GROW

Exports increased and the adverse balance of trade for the year showed a decrease of more than $27,500,000 (about $187,500,000)—a reduction of more than 17 per cent as compared with 1934.

The general world depression and the British penal tariffs on Irish produce made life hard for sections of the agricultural community, but conditions improved and with the home market now secured them, our farmers can look forward to better times.

They will be gained by growth of the industrial population of the Free State. New factories are springing up in different parts of the country and old ones are being extended.

Under the national housing scheme far more houses have been built in town and country than was contemplated in the estimated post-war construction programme, made in 1932 when the scheme was initiated.

Associated Press
Asuncion, Paraguay, March 16.—The Paraguayan government headed by Rafael Franco has been formally recognized by Great Britain, the United States, France, Spain, Germany and five Latin-American countries—Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Uruguay.

Simultaneous with the recognition Saturday, the Paraguayan President promulgated a decree ending the state of war which had existed in the country since he took power, and also proclaimed re-establishment of a "state of peace" with Bolivia, which fought Paraguay in the Chaco hostilities.

As a result the mass exchange of prisoners held by Bolivia and Paraguay will get under way as soon as arrangements can be made.

MINING MEN HOLD SESSIONS

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 16.—Topics ranging from underground mining to the plight of prospectors in search of gold are down for discussion here this week at the convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Distinguished Canadian and United States mining men began to arrive yesterday to attend the three-day gathering opening Tuesday. About 450 delegates, authorities on prospecting, mine workings and other phases of the mining industry, are expected. More than thirty-five papers will be presented. Medals to be awarded include the Barlow Memorial Prize and the Leonard Medal, given winning papers on mining subjects.

Churchill Would Lift Sanctions

Canadian Press
Birmingham, Eng., March 16.—Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, urged the "suspension" of sanctions against Italy for the duration of the present Locarno crisis, in a speech here Saturday evening.

"It should be possible," he said, "to relieve our sailors from their long vigil at Alexandria and bring the main portion of our fleet into home waters where, for many reasons, their presence is greatly desired."

Mr. Churchill spoke at a meeting with Sir Austen Chamberlain, former Foreign Secretary, who criticized the appointment of Sir Thomas Inskip as defence co-ordinator minister.

It was a matter for regret, Sir Austen said, that Prime Minister Baldwin had not appointed Mr. Churchill, a man of "great courage, infinite energy and wide experience in matters of defence."

"There will be many in the House of Commons," Sir Austen added, "who regret Mr. Baldwin did not think fit to call him to the new post to which he has greater qualifications than any living politician."

PENAL COLONY PLAN OPPOSED

Alaskans Condemn Proposal
in U.S. Congress to Send Convicts to Aleutians

Associated Press
Fairbanks, Alaska, March 16.—Alaskans throughout the territory bitterly assailed Saturday a proposal by Representative Edward A. Kenney, Democrat, New Jersey, to establish a federal penal colony in the Aleutian Islands.

Residents of Nome, Fairbanks and Cordova joined in condemning Kenney's bill, introduced in Congress convict colonies in the Aleutians of southwest Alaska.

The most vigorous opposition appeared in Fairbanks, where the Chamber of Commerce and civic and social organizations prepared resolutions deprecating the plan.

At Nome, civic and fraternal groups, including the Pioneers of Alaska, united in a statement denouncing the measure.

The mayor of Cordova and grand historian of the Pioneers of Alaska, Dr. W. H. Chase, said Kenney's bill was "absolutely preposterous. A man who would propose such a bill must be crazy. I'm positively against it."

NO PLACE FOR OUTCASTS

In Anchorage, about thirty-five miles from the federal land settlement project at Matanuska, there was little comment on the measure. Some persons there appeared indifferent.

Leo Rogge, president of the Fairbanks Igloo of the Pioneers of Alaska, said:

"Alaska has no place for offcasts or criminals, and we will not consent to make a prison of Alaska if we can help it. We should do all we can against the movement."

CHICAGO MAN ADMITS SLAYING

Associated Press
Chicago, March 16.—A thirty-nine-year-old bachelor, Peter Kirsoulas, was under arrest today, charged with slaying a theatre manager after a ten-year-old girl had accused him of unwelcome attentions.

Chief of Detectives John Sullivan said Kirsoulas had admitted shooting Irvin Fehlbeg, thirty-six, to death in the theatre office Saturday.

"Sure I shot that guy," Sullivan quoted Kirsoulas as saying. "I was afraid he and those others were going to beat me up for fooling around the girl."

C. CAIRNS DIES IN EDINBURGH

Canadian Press
New York, March 16.—Christopher Cairns, Baptist evangelist, known in Scotland for more than fifty years as "missionary to the outdoor blind," died in Edinburgh yesterday, according to word received here. He would have been eighty-three years old in July.

A lay minister, Mr. Cairns traveled throughout Scotland preaching in the street and pulpit from early manhood until he was incapacitated by injuries about three years ago. His work among the blind included instruction in the use of Braille.

Hitler Says He Wants Respect

Recognizes He Is Responsible to Germans "With His Head"

Munich, Germany, March 15.—Three hundred thousand Germans cheered Reichsfuehrer Hitler here when he declared it was he who made Germany what it is today, and that he assumed sole responsibility for Germany's actions in regard to foreign nations.

As his big audience here Saturday evening applauded his words, he called for a national vote of confidence on March 20, when Germany will go to the parliamentary polls, and declared: "Between now and March 20, I will take the responsibility for what I have recently done."

NOT PLAYING SECOND FIDDLE

"I asked you for your confidence when we withdrew from the League of Nations," he told his hearers. "You know why we withdrew. They did not give us the same rights as others. It is impossible for us to play second fiddle."

"Now I am asking again for your confidence," he said, mentioning the Reichstag election March 29.

"I assumed the responsibility. It was not always easy, for I took over a regime that was in a state of collapse."

"I assumed the heaviest burden it is possible for any man to assume. I doubt whether anyone else would have had the courage to take the full responsibility in his name alone."

ON HIS OWN HEAD

"I did not hide behind majorities. I took my mandate from the German people, and to that people I am responsible with my head."

"With it, I stand or fall."

Hitler then repeated his picture of Germany's collapse before the Nazis secured power, along the lines of his address last Thursday at Karlsruhe in the Rhineland.

Der Fuehrer went into a long harangue against the parliamentary system of government, criticizing it with biting irony.

WANTS RESPECT

"It is impossible to have good internal policy if a country is a helot and slave in foreign affairs," he said. "I care far less for sympathy than for respect."

"I am trying to restore to the German people the respect of the world, for I do not believe you can have sympathy for something you do not respect."

Insull Stations Are Soon to Broadcast

Associated Press
Chicago, March 16.—Samuel Insull, former utilities magnate, attempting a comeback in the radio field, said today that his organization, the Insull Broadcasting Company, would begin operation next month.

The seventy-six-year-old Insull, acquitted last year of mail fraud charges in connection with the collapse of his $2,000,000,000 public utilities empire, said seventeen mid-western stations had signed contracts to broadcast the programmes of his regional chain.

POWER TEST IN PORTO RICO

Canadian-owned Company Wants Injunction Against Government Scheme

Canadian Press
San Juan, Porto Rico, March 16.—Development of electric power as part of the island reconstruction plans, financed by the United States government, would be stopped by an injunction sought by the United States District Court by the Canadian-owned Porto Rico Railway, Light and Power Company. A hearing on the petition for an injunction has been set for Wednesday.

The company in its petition alleges the government plans sponsored by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes to establish electric rates "so-called desirable" by invasion of the company's territory, violate the company's franchise, which will not expire until 2005. The petition seeks to restrain local officials from carrying out the plans. It asserts the company has more than $7,000,000 invested, grossing $1,400,000 annually from 40,000 customers.

GREECE HAS NEW CABINET

Canadian Press from Havas
Athens, March 16.—Greece had a new cabinet today after several days of interim government.

Constantine Demerdjis, Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs, presented his new appointees to King George yesterday evening after they had been sworn in.

The resignation of Gen. John Metaxas as Vice-premier and joint Minister of War and Aviation ensures the new government the parliamentary support of the Liberal-Republican Party.

The friction match, which is more than 100 years old, was invented in England.

SENATOR HOCKEN AND TOURISTS

EDITORIAL COMMENTS IN NEWSpapers across Canada show that the recent yearly report of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau on the value of the tourist business and the way in which it has been promoted by advertising abroad has given a marked stimulus to the growing interest in this subject throughout Canada. A specially enthusiastic expression comes from Hon. H.
C. Hocken, a well-known Ontario member of the Senate at Ottawa, who was active on the committee which investigated tourist possibilities, whose recommendations prompted the Dominion government to set up an efficient organization for the promotion of travel to the Dominion.

In a letter to the local press Senator Hocken pays a warm tribute to the work of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. On this he says, after referring to the value of the industry generally: "My purpose in writing you now is to pay tribute to the work done by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, of which Mr. George I. Warren is the commissioner. His work shows pronounced capacity for such a position, and I hope and believe that Victoria and the island will derive highly satisfactory results from his efforts. The Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario are all doing very splendid work in the same direction, but I do not put any of them before Victoria and the island. There is so much to see west of the Rocky Mountains, that one visit is merely a prelude to frequent holidays by those who have a knowledge of what you have to offer."

Senator Hocken says he is confident that the people of Victoria must realize how much it means to them and this island to have it kept before the tourists of this continent. It is a long journey from Ontario to Vancouver Island, but he thinks the number of those who travel westward is increasing, because of the advertising the province is receiving. "We are," he says, "selling the people who are coming to Canada something that they can take away with them, without in any way depleting the source of their enjoyment."

In his recent budget Hon. John Hart announced the provision of an additional expenditure of $30-000 for this purpose. It is to be hoped that the most effective use of the money will be made by the government, which has its own special information and advertising service, and which must consider the province as a whole in its programme. Last year, although Vancouver Island had a gratifying favorable tourist travel balance, the province generally had an unfavorable balance running into many millions. This condition should be rectified by a vigorous campaign through the effective co-operation of all of the agencies which have been created for the promotion of tourist travel to British Columbia.

In a wider sense there is every indication that in time Canada's tourist attractions will be recognized everywhere as being one of her chief assets. Tourist travel to the Dominion can be made the chief means of wiping out the adverse balance of our trade with the United States. As Senator Hocken says, we have something which can be sold without the depletion of resources. On the contrary, with the extension of our national parks system and the development of good roads, we can progressively increase them.
This is a much bigger thing than it has been understood to be, but there is every evidence of a growing appreciation of its importance by the Canadian people.

"COME OVER AND HELP US"

ALTHOUGH THE CALGARY ALBERTA-
n, the official organ of the Alberta government, says the time has come when the government of Alberta can not have any further dealing with Major Douglas by cable, The Edmonton Bulletin suggests that the ministry keep on cabling. The only alternative, it says, is the long-distance telephone, which costs $12 a minute and which, in view of the fact that the Major is a very deliberate talker who ponders deeply over each sentence, might be more expensive than cabling. Besides, our Edmonton contemporary is not sure that the Major would care to talk over the telephone after what has transpired.

The Bulletin says that if it is the "bounden duty" of the Major to come to Edmonton, as a caucus of the government members has declared it to be, it is equally the bounden duty of the government to get him to come—which it could have arranged by a cheaper vehicle than the cable, but did not. It adds that if Major Douglas can be induced to come and arrange to pay every eligible Albertan $25 per month, the cable bill will be neither here nor there,
and nobody will ridicule the government for having to back down from its tax-boosting programme as an inducement for the Major's trip.

By all means, says The Bulletin, keep the cable hot. If any man ever was needed anywhere the Major is needed in Edmonton right now. The distress calls from the Legislature are only echoes of howls from the taxpayers.

We gather from our Edmonton's contemporary's comment that it is really anxious to see Major Douglas on the job, and fears that the government is losing its enthusiasm in that direction.

THE DEATH PENALTY

THERE IS A BILL BEFORE THE HOUSE of Commons at Ottawa providing for the abolition of hanging in Canada, and the substitution of the lethal chamber. It was introduced by Dr. J. K.
Blair, Liberal member for Wellington North, Ontario, and after the discussion the Minister of Justice promised to make inquiries of the authorities in those states of the neighboring republic where the lethal chamber operates. More will be heard of the matter.
There are many reasons why Dr. Blair's bill, or one similar to it, should be permitted to pass. The present form of the death penalty is repulsive and degrading. This is not to say the officer who directs the ghastly performance does not carry out his duties as efficiently as possible. There always is the risk, however, that something may go wrong at a critical moment.

There was a time when there were public hangings, but public opinion eventually put an end to them. Only the necessary witnesses now are permitted in the neighborhood of the scaffold; but it is safe to say that public opinion today is opposed to execution in this way. Since a life has to be taken,
the lethal chamber is the only decent way to take it.
It is noteworthy that among the opponents of hanging cited by Dr. Blair was Arthur Ellis, the public executioner, who branded it as revolting.

AS AN EQUAL

ALTHOUGH THE TENSION OVER THE violation by Germany of the Locarno Pact has been eased somewhat by Hitler's undertaking to be represented at a session of the League Council, and France's willingness to consider a better scheme for security, the situation remains very complicated, to put it mildly. There is a dispute regarding the conditions on which Germany proposes to attend the meeting.
Hitler demands that she be accepted as an equal and that peace proposals on a general basis be discussed. France opposes the discussion of any other subject than the remilitarization of the Rhineland and the Locarno treaty. She declines to accept the entrance of German troops into the forbidden territory as justifiable or to deal with any other subject or subjects until these forces have been removed.

France's position is logical enough. Germany has broken two peace treaties, remains in possession of the fruits of her violation, and now offers another.
If after these performances she is accepted on her own terms at any conference, she has the tacit approval of the other powers, and there would be no reason, in the opinion of the French, why she should not regard that approval as an encouragement to break any other agreement which arose out of the meeting in precisely the same way. If Germany's self-respect requires her to violate the Treaty of Versailles and the Locarno Pact, why should it not require her to violate any other understanding whenever self-interest called for it? Germany certainly has not justified any confidence in her good faith in recent years, and France feels she can not afford to take chances with her fascist neighbor in the light of the record.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS

IT IS SIGNIFICANT THAT IN THE REport of last week's bank clearings in the thirty-one cities filing returns only five centres showed a decline compared with the corresponding week a year ago. These were Sherbrook, Ottawa, Windsor, Medicine Hat, and New Westminster. Comparatively speaking, however, the decline in each case, with perhaps the exception of Ottawa, was not serious.
The 1935 figure for the national capital was $18-565,000 compared with last week's $15,687,000.
The drop in the case of New Westminster was less than $2,000.

Notable among the cities showing large increases are Montreal with a gain over the same week last year of $17,400,000, Toronto with $17,200,000, Winnipeg with $15,300,000. Specially encouraging is Winnipeg's increase for the reason that it represents more than half the total for the 1935 week. The figures are $27,784,559 and $42,967,698, respectively. Vancouver's increase is more than a million and a half and Victoria's approximately $200,000.

Bank clearings, of course, may not be an infallible barometer of economic conditions. Special financing often is reflected by the volume of business going through the banks; but for several weeks now there has been a steady advance over last year in the majority of the reporting centres. A very similar movement took place toward the end of 1925 and continued until the crash four years later.

What Other Papers Say

INDIA AND OTTAWA
The Calcutta Statesman

The most persistent allegation made by critics of the Ottawa Agreement is that foreign countries have retaliated against India because of her granting tariff preferences to Great Britain and that at the best the improvement of India's exports is the guaranteed market of Britain is no more than a diversion of trade for which India has paid dearly by decreased exports elsewhere. The inaccuracy of this allegation has been repeatedly exposed.

A FIXED POLICY
The Australasian

Nothing new in economic science is likely to emerge from the proposed inquiry (into the Australian banking system), and if it did Australia would not put it into practice. The whole economic policy of the Commonwealth is founded upon a currency pegged to sterling at a definite standard of depreciation. Any economic experiment undertaken independently of the outside world would throw all Australian finance and commerce into the melting pot.

WAR TAXES FOR THE RICH
The Montreal Le Canada

In the course of its annual meeting held here last week the Quebec section of the Canadian Legion expressed the wish that "upon the declaration of war the wealth, as well as the life and liberty of citizens, should be subject to conscription for the defence of the nation." Here is a suggestion bearing the stamp of common sense and wisdom. Its effect is the greater since it is made by men who risked their lives on the field of battle and of whom a certain number have returned wounded or infirm. When war breaks out a nation is submitted to taxes of all sorts which bear heavily upon it and even upon following generations.
We know something about it. There is, in the first place, the blood tax which falls upon youth and men in the prime of life. Then there is a host of others of various kinds which entail numerous privations and suffering and affect almost the whole nation, including the families that have already paid the blood tax.
Unfortunately, if these taxes are the same for all, they do not fall upon all in the same degree. There are those who escape the blood tax; it is only fair that in other respects they should bear a heavier burden.
Furthermore, the poor are harder hit than the rich;
it would be fair if everyone were taxed according to his resources instead of having to bear a burden equal to that of his neighbor with wider and stronger shoulders.

Loose Ends

When we see ourselves we find the sight amusing—the lamb gamboled before the feast—Alberta is relieved from a scandalous suspicion—and a stranger bolts up again.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SIMPLE FOLKS

THE REACTION of people when they see themselves as others see them is peculiar. A few days ago a local movie house showed a travesty of Victoria, presented most elaborately in color by an American company which depicts all the interesting places of the world. As soon as the pictures of Victoria came on the screen the Victoria audience started to laugh. It kept laughing right through the show. I do not know whether this was a form of self-consciousness or that higher British sense of humor which can always laugh at itself. If the pictures had shown Tacoma, Wash., or Peoria, Ill., no one would have laughed. But because they showed Victoria, one of the lovely spots of the world, everybody thought it was a scream. Perhaps it was. Perhaps we are. But we ought to keep the joke in the family, and not let strangers suspect it.

It appears from these movies that we live here in a simple, innocent Arcadia, surrounded by flowers and sunshine—a primitive shepherd people whose widest amusement, on a Saturday afternoon, is to dance the Highland fling on the greenward. The foreign audiences who see us dancing on the greenward will never suspect that the boys in kilts are plumbers, dry goods salesmen and government liquor vendors, nor that the quaint Highland lassies are stenographers the rest of the week and drink side-cars at parties. If Victoria were only as others see it, how happy we should be!

LAMBS

FROM WHERE I SIT just now I can see the Boggie's lambs, the "quint-uplets" which have greatly excited the demon next door. Woolly white hams, appearing clumsily about on a green hillside, are the very picture of spring itself. They make you feel young again, make you regret your misplaced life, fill you with a glorious spring feeling. It is nice to stand in the March wind and listen to them
bawl, with the thunder of the frog chorus in the background, while their mothers crop the grass reflectively, with a profound (but false) look of wisdom.

I was walking down the road yonder yesterday with a lady. We paused to look at the lambs gamboling on the new grass.
"Aren't they delightful?" said the lady. "So fluffy, like children's toys, so clean and white, so innocent. It does one good to get close to nature
at this time of year."
As we walked on she added: "And that reminds me. I must order a roast of lamb from the butcher tomorrow."

Yes, the Boggie's lambs, gamboling out there on the green hillside, are a moving sight. They never fail to cheer the human heart. All of them will be butchered before Easter and eaten by nature-lovers like you and me.

CARDS

THE PROVINCIAL Secretary of Alberta has lately issued a solemn warning to the electorate that he never plays cards. Ten years ago, he admits, he did play one game of cards
—and lapse for which, however, ten years of good behavior have probably atoned.

It must have been relief to the good people of Alberta to know that the provincial secretary doesn't play cards.
Perhaps, though, it would have been a good thing if he had played occasionally. If the whole Albertan government had only played a little poker with the boys it would have found out a number of facts, useful at the present juncture. It would have found out, for example, that you shouldn't bid your whole pile on a pair of twos and a Douglas, especially as the Douglas won't be there when you're called.

NATIVE DRAMA

OUT OF VANCOUVER has lately
come a strange thing, a play called "Waiting for Lefty." A cast of jobless youngsters, some of them on relief, have made the play such a reality that the Vancouver papers have been full of learned discussions as to whether "Waiting for Lefty" is drama or revolutionary propaganda.

Anyway, they think so much of it that both The Province and The Sun have urged that it should be sent east to the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa.

"Waiting for Lefty," having caused a storm in Vancouver, is coming here next Saturday to raise money to send the cast to Ottawa. One hopes that the project will succeed. It would be a good idea to let the east see that we have some native talent out here, and are broad-minded enough to appreciate it, whatever its economic viewpoint.

STRANGER

JUST AFTER the Russian Revolution,
while I was still a boy, a tall,
handsome stranger came to Cowichan Lake, where we used to spend the summers. He had got wounded in some obscure war and the treatment prescribed for his injured leg was sunshine. He used to sit out on the front porch of his tiny houseboat by the hour, sunning his leg and writing wild and woolly stories for the pulp magazines. Also, he would spend interminable hours fly-casting for trout in Marble Bay and it is said he once caught a fish large enough to keep.
His curious way of talking, his displined comments on people and events were rather alarming to the natives of Cowichan Lake. He once asked an old gaffer a question and the reply was so long in coming that he said, "Oh, send me a postcard when you think of the answer," and got in his boat and rowed away. The natives thought at first he was shell-shocked. By mid-summer the opinion generally accepted was that the poor fellow was quite mad, but harmless.

Personally I rather doubted the general opinion. I felt that it was at least a little exaggerated. The stranger and I (who was much too young to understand him) used to talk by the hour on his houseboat, and I would listen with a glassy eye
to his tales of the Russian Revolution, which he had seen at first hand, and various other things. I didn't know whether to believe him or not. His name was Negley Farnon.

Well, the point of this dismal recollection is that the natives seem to have been wrong and I, for once, seem to have been right. The other day all the leading book reviews of the world appeared with wild ululations about a book called "The Way of a Transgressor," by Negley Farnon. They said it was one of the great autobiographies of modern times.

I couldn't believe it. It was the wounded stranger of Cowichan Lake.
The picture of the handsome man of fifty that appeared with the reviews
I didn't recognize at all. But I have just read the book. I have found Cowichan Lake in it, and all the natives (including the old man who was asked to send the postcard), and I realize now that I used to sit on the houseboat and talk with a genius, one of the great soldiers of fortune of our time, a modern Cellini, with a much better style of writing and just as interesting adventures. I am wondering whether the natives of Cowichan Lake have heard about these things, and what they think now.

WARNING!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 600 words.
Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.
Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely,
are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the cation in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this

GREASING THE MACHINE

To the Editor:—A well-organized minority group are endeavoring to frustrate the efforts of our provincial government in introducing a splendid and practical scheme of overcoming the great difficulty of coping with medical and hospital expenses which the great majority are at some time or another faced with and with much humiliation to those who cannot pay.

Who are financing this selfish group who are so emphatic in their desire to squash, postpone and once and for all deny a large mass of wage and salary earners from enjoying not only facilities for medical attention but freedom from the worries indicated to financing such services required?

Those financing opposition to the health insurance bill are loath to admit their origin. Who are they?
P. V. BROWN,
Gale Rooms, Johnson St.,
Victoria, March 11.

WOMEN'S WORKROOM

To the Editor:—May I take a line of your valuable space to remind your readers that on Saturday next, March 21, by kindness of the Mayor and Municipal Council a tag day will be held in aid of the Women's Workroom.

Few citizens realize the splendid work which has been done in the last few years by this institution. Many women who would otherwise have been on relief have been rendered self-supporting; while others have been placed in the position of earning part of their maintenance for the benefit of themselves and the taxpayer.

This workroom does not in any way compete with any recognized business or private enterprise. It has proved a boon to mothers and bachelors with respect to the repair of clothing and household linen.

A very special appeal is being made this year as it is particularly wished that the tag day should be exceptionally successful, as a small tribute to the memory of the late Miss Wigley who was the originator and organizer of the Women's Workroom.

MARGARET BARTHOLOMEW,

President of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

MR. SHEPPARD'S LETTER

To the Editor:—The "music goes round and round" and so does T.
Guy Sheppard's head, it seems. That is my impression after reading his volcanic (does that describe it?) letters to your paper. Never mind.
Youth Action Forum, you're still 75 per cent of the population behind you! (T. Guy thinks they're all suckers by the way.)

I am going to quote a little story
I heard recently, Mr. Editor, for the benefit of your inimitable correspondent, T. Guy Sheppard:

In a certain town there was kept as a pet a parrot. One day the parrot alighted from its perch and made its way to the kitchen. There it noticed some bologna, and taking a fancy to it, ate it. Immediately after, the bird began squawking in an unprecedented manner. The cat of the house, hearing the uproar, crept up on the parrot unnoticed,
pounced on it, and devoured it.
The moral of that story is this:
when full of bologna, keep your mouth shut.

"GAGSTER."

FIRE INSURANCE

To the Editor:—Three years ago the Victoria Ratepayers' Association took up the matter of city fire insurance in regard to the excessive premiums charged, believing them unnecessary and unjustified, and a burden upon
the taxpayers.

There are several insurance companies of sound financial rating and standing known as non-board companies, whose premiums are less than others. Many of our citizens carry their insurance in these companies.
In view of this, the association urged the City Council to save taxpayers' money by insuring more of the city property at the lower rates. I understand this was done, and at a considerable saving to the civic funds.

The insurance question has again
come up, and at the City Council meeting last Tuesday, a special committee appointed to apportion a blanket policy of $1,044,010, under a new scheme to all local licensed agencies.

So far, so good; but it is sincerely hoped the committee will bear in mind the ratepayers' wish, which we think is duty bound they will do, to apportion them at the lower rates. If insurance companies, licensed by our provincial government to do business, can quote a rate that will save the city $10,922 at a time like the present
when we are struggling to keep taxes down and save our homes from confiscation, in the name of common sense, let us do this.

The saving, too, would materially help in meeting the extra burden that will probably be placed upon the council in the health insurance charges.

The city owes thanks to Mr. Russell Ker in his efforts in bringing the in-adequacies in the city's fire policy system to the attention of the council.
ARTHUR HENDER, Secretary,
Victoria, March 13.

YOUTH FORUM

To the Editor:—According to his statement in the letter in your issue of March 11, T. Guy Sheppard wields
"the pen of peace." Is he the only one who holds this privilege? By the way he indicates the members of the Youth Action Forum one would think they were super-patriots and ultra-militarists. Such is not the case. The Youth Action Forum is not composed of extremists. On the question of war their stand is simply that of the average man—that war is gruesome, horrible and un-Christian; yes, everyone should work for the cause of peace, but at the same time loyalty to country should never diminish and the national defences of a nation should never be permitted to become inadequate, so that in the event of the nation being invaded by a foreign power real defence would become impossible. A nation should be friendly to other nations, inoffensive, but prepared to defend its own.

The youth who support the Youth Action Forum do not claim the superior morality of T. Guy Sheppard, alias "Sir Oracle," yet they feel their intelligence to be insulted
when their statements are deliberately misconstrued and made to appear absurd. Or possibly it is a case of an over-hasty, would-be critic taking these statements too literally.
I refer, of course, to our statement of "Our country, right or wrong."
It is not denied that the spirit of this slogan can be carried to extremes and degenerate into narrow-minded chauvinism and rabid nationalism. However, it stands to reason that if good citizens of a country, for one reason or another, exhibit no interest or pride in that country, it will certainly ultimately cease to exist as an independent political unit. History has proven this fact more than once.

Undoubtedly these few lines of explanation will incite "Sir Oracle"
to further condemn the Youth Action Forum as "puerile garrulity" or something equally bombastic and meaningless.
C. S. THOMAS,
Co-director, Youth Action Forum.

PATRIOTISM

To the Editor:—Please permit me to enter the controversy (if you have not closed it by the time you receive this) on the question of the Youth Action Forum and War.
This very matter of misguided youth state that they are out to propagate "Christian principles." About a month ago I attended a public meeting where Neil Butler, one of the three directors of the Youth Action Forum, was asked publicly what was his personal motive in being connected with the forum?
Neil Butler answered from the platform "I am an opportunist and I'm out to make whatever money I can."
Now, Mr. Editor, my definition of an opportunist is a person attempting to gain his own ends at the expense of others.
Certainly no one would blame these youth because they want to acquire

1936 Streamline DRESSES

The whole world has gone wild about pleats—they are done in the softest chiffons for evening wear or in weightier fabrics for daytime—probably because the effect is slenderizing as well as height-giving.

Fashion is a creation of unusual vagaries this season, one moment she may be delightfully "sissy," with a neckline foaming with remarkable lacy ruffles, floral accessories and gracious lines—or she may go delightfully tailored at times.

This group of Afternoon Dresses, presented in the Fashion Show, vividly demonstrates some of the influences of the two phases.

CAKE SECRETS

by Jane Taylor Allen
Egg whites help to make cake light and feathery because much air can be enclosed in them by beating. For best results in beating, remove eggs from the refrigerator several hours before using.

Egg yolks can't hold as much air as egg whites because the yolks contain a large amount of fat. When the utmost expansion of air is desired to leaven a cake, egg yolks and whites must be beaten separately. Egg yolks help to make cake fine-grained.

SWANS DOWN MADE CAKES
Have Definite Characteristics
Interesting points about cake making occur at cooking schools. At a recent class a lady asked me whether one could tell from the appearance whether or not a particular cake was made with Swans Down Cake Flour. I replied, "Cakes made with Swans Down Cake Flour look different and feel different. Swans Down's tender gluten is the only kind that can build up that delicate structure that marks fine cake. Those who know Swans Down can always tell from the fine, evenly-grained texture whether the cake was made with ordinary flour or with Swans Down Cake Flour."

MY ORANGE LAYER CAKE
1½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar ¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, unbeaten
½ cup orange juice
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add orange rind to butter and cream thoroughly, add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Add flour, alternately with orange juice, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 minutes. Spread generously with Orange Butter Frosting.

ORANGE BUTTER FROSTING
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon lemon rind
4 tablespoons orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons butter
1 egg yolk (unbeaten)
¼ teaspoon salt
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Add orange and lemon rind to fruit juice and let stand 10 minutes; strain if desired. Cream butter; add egg yolk and salt and mix well. Add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar, alternately with fruit juice, until of right consistency to spread. Beat after each addition until smooth. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers, or top and sides of 8x8x2-inch cake (generously), or about 3 dozen cup cakes.

Gives Report On Junior Wardens

Young B.C. Foresters Doing Fine Work in B.C., Says Branch Head

"The growth and success of the Junior Foresters' movement since it was first inaugurated, five years ago, has been remarkable," says F. C. Brown, president of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Forestry Association, in his annual review of this group.

Mr. Brown referred to the splendid co-operation given by school principals and teachers throughout the province in connection with the appointing of Junior Foresters and with their assistance one boy for every 200 pupils was selected for these posts. At present there are approximately 5,000 Junior Foresters in the province working for "defence of woods, waters and wild life."

Continuing, the report says: "So much good work has been accomplished by these lads, that we felt they had earned the right to something a little more distinguished in the way of uniforms, hence we decided to introduce the red shirts. These shirts, complete with shoulder straps and pockets, carry the official fir-tree crest of the association."

"In the early spring, with the co-operation of the B.C. Forest Service, the Junior Foresters gave a demonstration in Stanley Park, Vancouver, on the art of fighting forest fires. Moving pictures were taken of this display which were to be shown throughout the country."

"The Junior Foresters are carrying the message of forest fire prevention for this association in all districts of the province and many have taken part in important events held during the year 1935, not only in Vancouver, but in all communities of British Columbia."

It is impossible to relate the numerous celebrations that took place in which these lads so willingly and generously spent their time and energy to make them successful. The Junior Foresters realize that by wearing their uniforms and appearing in public, they are carrying the message of forest conservation to the people of British Columbia more effectively than ever before.

REPORT ON WORK
From time to time we received numerous letters from the boys, reporting on the work they are doing in their respective districts, and also requesting literature and pamphlets on forestry and game, to help them in their class debates or lectures. "In the past year we also received

Plan Border of Annuals to Provide Colorful Frame For Garden

The mourning bride of grandmother's garden, also called scabiosa, and pincushion, can now be obtained in many colors and with larger flowers.

The airy, graceful cosmos is a late season bloomer. Here are some of the older varieties, with the newer pompom and anemone forms.

By AMY C. McCLEAN
Attractive flowering borders do not just happen. They are carefully planned prior to planting, and each plant is placed in the particular spot where it will add most to the attractiveness of the garden.

A limited budget should not deter the gardener from planning for a good stand of annual plants, as the only expenditure necessary is for seed and a small amount of fertilizer.

If the tallest plants are put along the back of the border, the next size in front, and the smallest plants kept for the front edge, the planting will have a uniform effect.

Annual poppies, annual larkspur, and centaureas, or cornflowers, make interesting background material, for these plants reach a height of from two to three feet and the flowers come in a variety of colors. Sow the seeds of any of these flowers as soon as the ground is warm. Later, thin out the seedlings so that the individual plants stand from six to twelve inches apart.

The garden should be supplied with other annuals which will bloom as the earlier ones begin to fade. Zinnias, marigolds, scabiosa, cosmos, and single dahlias make excellent replacement material. Seeds of these plants may be sown in a seed bed and the young plants transplanted to the place where they are to grow; or they may be taken from the seed bed and planted in good soil in quart strawberry boxes until the border is ready to receive them. While the plants are in these boxes their only requirement is sufficient watering.

Seeds of these annuals should not be planted until the soil becomes warm, usually about the same time that beans are planted in the vegetable garden. If a cold frame is used, seed may be started earlier.

In front of the border, plant such small flowers as pansies, forget-me-nots, annual pinks, California poppies, candytuft, and sweet alyssum. Seeds of these may be sown in the open ground as soon as the ground can be dug, thinning them to stand six inches apart each way.

In a poor soil of light consistency, portulaca will make a good showing, even during hot, dry weather. By planting the later-blooming dwarf ageratum, verbenas, and santalinas in boxes, they may be held over until the other flowers in the border begin to fade, and then planted to replace the latter. This practice will insure continuous bloom throughout the season.

Ageratum and verbenas come in many hues, but santalinas may be obtained only in yellow. Although verbenas do not begin to bloom until late, it will continue flowering until severe frost.

For an annual flower garden of average size—perhaps 40x50 feet—of seed should not exceed $5. Of course, if facilities for growing these plants from seeds are not available, and it is necessary to purchase young plants from a local grower or nursery, the cost will be higher.

COLLEGE NOTES

The final meeting of the International Relations Society was held last Monday evening, when Rev. W. G. Wilson delivered a very interesting address on the subject, "The Ethiopian Tangle." Following this discussion a business meeting was held to discuss the possibility of sending delegates to the Northwest I.R.C. conference at Pullman, Wash., where outstanding authorities on international affairs will conduct the Round Table sessions.

An amendment was made to the constitution of the Alma Mater Society at the last meeting of the Students' Council. In former years there was only one official first-year representative on the Students' Council, but now there will be a men's junior member, elected by the freshmen, and a women's junior member, elected by the freshmen. The tea for the faculty, council-elect and team coaches will be held on March 17. George F. Gregory called a meeting of the Alma Mater Society for March 23.

The final meeting of the Literary Arts Society will be held at the home of Howard Denton.

After much debate on the subject, a special committee composed of coaches, captains of the teams and members of the council, have chosen "sport crests." The list posted consists of: D. Waddell, H. O'Neil, P. Henderson, T. L. C. Branson, V. Palmer, B. Murdoch, L. Cox, Taro Yoneda, J. Fields, C. Stewart, W. Harris, R. Robertson, F. Shepherd, D. Stuart, C. Stevens, D. Edgar, W. Morris, B. Bryant, R. Prior, V. Hanna, N. Patterson, Claudia Jasie, G. Gardner, Lois Harris, Jessie Parr, Milva White, Edna Lynn, Jean MacLaurin, Audrie Thwaites, Annie Turner and Wendie Baillie. At present there is a petition circulating which has well over 100 signatures on it of students who believe that Fred Leighton should obtain a crest, and which will be presented to the council before the presentation of crests.

The Student-Christian Movement continued activities this week as Vivian Shoemaker of the Y.M.C.A. conducted a study group on the "Christian International," and Miss Ryan led a group discussing "The Art of Living." Ernie Bishop, president, has announced that these meetings are open to all students who wish to attend.

Those elected for the 1936-37 Students' Council are: Struan Robertson for president (by acclamation), Carron Jamieson for president of literary and scientific, Edmond Horne for treasurer, and Beryl Wharton for secretary. Election of athletic representatives and junior members will take place at the commencement of the fall semester.

Following the production of "Mme. Pepita," the annual college play, a business meeting of the Players' Club was held on Friday to conclude the business affairs of this production, when Robert Murdoch, assistant business manager, read a financial report covering the entire production. It was decided that next year a publicity manager should be appointed, and that more funds shall be spent on publicity. Every effort is being made to enter an act of the play in the B.C. Drama Festival.

some money, but to lay claim to propagating Christian principles and covering up their opportunism with a religious cloak must be condemned by all God-fearing citizens.

Regarding the question of patriotism and war, most people will agree that it is a very noble sentiment to love one's own country, it is not a question of sentiment in case of war, the war propagandists might try to make us believe so, but we know different.

chers can be I would direct you to Bedford Park in England. In that park there is a big gun similar to those at the entrance to the Parliament Buildings in Victoria. It was captured from the Germans during the war by British Tommies.

No doubt, many Britishers were wounded by it before it was silenced. Upon close inspection of the gun one will find that it bears the trade mark of a British armament firm. It was made in England.

If the three youthful patriots would consider the human wreckage wrought by the last war, and delve into the traffic in armaments they would soon realize that they are doing no good service for their country or for democracy but are in reality acting as agents for the International Armaments Trusts without getting paid for it.

CITY INSURANCE

To the Editor:—A letter appeared in your Saturday edition over the signature of D. W. Campbell, stating that we had no authority to include the Halifax Fire Underwriters Agency in our bid.

We need to make no further remarks than to quote the contents of a telegram received by us on March 11: "Halifax withdraws authorization Victoria schedule due pressure local agent."

"THE 13 THOUSAND"

To the Editor:—Let the honorable members of Provincial Parliament now in session be not deceived nor unduly alarmed (if they are inclined to be superstitious) by the number 13 (thousand) by which the names deducted of those to whom the "moderation league" petition was misrepresented there will not be so many. Last week the papers reported seven cars piled up, caused by zig-zag driving. The report did not say how many of the occupants were injured nor how many cars damaged. Neither did it give the cause of the cause of the zig-zag driving. No doubt that goes without saying in that beerhouse vicinity.

In the United States in the year 1935 there were 36,000 killed and 1,000,000 injured caused by the same kind of driving, only faster. And that is to say nothing of the moral wreckage and damage to cars (the motor company would not mind that)—36,000, that is about the population of Victoria proper, is it not? We presume the tourist of the same and sober sort are the ones who enjoy coming here to escape that awful carnage. We do not need any more zig-zag drivers on this side of 49.

T. ABSTAINER.

VICTORIA'S FINANCES

To the Editor:—Who said there was no humor left in the city of Victoria? We have frequently been given figures showing we are reducing our city debt. For instance, in May, 1935, we are told that our net debt in January, 1931, was $13,767,895.51. On January, 1935, we are given the net debt as $12,985,045.38, a supposed saving of $782,850.13.

We are told in The Victoria Daily Times of Friday, March 13, that Mayor Leeming spoke at the B.C. Legislature meeting Friday morning, that the city of Victoria had gone haywire since he was mayor of the city; and he now says, the city of Victoria has gone behind another $2,900,000. The mayor is reported to have said the city is bankrupt and gone beyond recovery. What a beautiful financial picture to give the world.

Does anyone handling the finances of the city of Victoria actually know

Report Issued On Mine Properties

A description and report on the mining properties of the Cardinal Mining and Development Company Limited, N.P.L., and on results of development work up to October, 1935, was made public Saturday by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines. The report was prepared by B. T. O'Grady, resident mining engineer for Number Six district. The property is on the south fork of Ladner Creek, two and a quarter miles northwest of Verona on the Kettle Valley Railway.

just what our net debt is? What right has Mr. Leeming to condemn the action of the Provincial Government when it returned the salary cuts to its civil servants, when only last year, 1935, Mayor Leeming increased his own salary by 10 per cent at a time when the finances of the city were severely strained?

Then, too, while telling the world we are $2,900,000 more in the hole, he decides to do the Ottawa hop instead of instructing the federal member to do his duty.

It would be interesting to know just what this Ottawa-hop will cost the ratepayers.

Mayor Gerry McGee I. reported to have said, we might as well be on ahead as much attention as Mayor Leeming will receive at Ottawa. At any rate, he will be politely told to see his provincial government.

"READ MY STORY... YOU TIMID CAKE MAKERS... THEN MAKE BETTER CAKES THAN EVER BEFORE!"

TED IS WILD ABOUT HIS MOTHER'S CAKES AND I HAVE SUCH POOR LUCK EVERY TIME I TRY TO BAKE ONE.

"MY DEAR, WHY DON'T YOU USE SWANS DOWN LIKE I DO?—HONESTLY, YOU'LL BE SURPRISED AT THE RESULTS YOU GET."

"WELL, I'VE FOLLOWED THE RECIPE CAREFULLY AND USED SWANS DOWN—I WONDER HOW IT'S GOING TO TURN OUT."

"HELLO, MILLY—I'M DYING TO KNOW HOW YOUR CAKE MADE WITH SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR TURNED OUT."

"GRAND, DOT, TED SAYS IT WAS AS GOOD AS ANY OF HIS MOTHER'S CAKES AND I JUST FOUND OUT SHE USES SWANS DOWN TOO!"

Like many others she had lost confidence in her ability to bake good cakes because she had been using ordinary flour. Cakes that are light and tender and delicate in flavour simply can't be made with poor-grade ingredients.

Swans Down is made from a special grade of wheat. It contains a tender, delicate gluten, perfectly suited to cake leavens. While ordinary flours contain a tough, elastic gluten too resistant to the light leavens used in cake.

Swans Down is milled differently. It takes 100 pounds of specially graded wheat to make 26 pounds of Swans Down, which is sifted through finest silk until 27 times finer than ordinary flour. Sift Swans Down before measuring.

A newspaper reporter whose "beat" included this particular hospital wrote a brief paragraph about a half-year-old child who had been injured in a taxi cab accident at Park Avenue and Forty-eighth Street. The city editor ran a blue pencil through a good many items that night. So the story of Michael's misadventures appeared only in the early editions of the newspaper. The late edition, which came to the Stryker table at Innisbrook, did not contain this account. Katharine, who was waiting for a good many items that night, saw the story of Michael's misadventures appeared only in the early editions of the newspaper. CHAPTER XXIX

Sally said furiously, "I don't understand it. I simply don't get it at all!" She glared at the offensive Tiptoe and at Clarence, stooped and graying, in the background.

"You say he said he was going to the city?" Sally demanded.

Clarence nodded. They had been over the ground several times before, but if the young lady wanted to ask the same questions over and over he had no choice but to answer them.

"He says he's going to the city," Clarence elaborated, with a sidelong roll of chocolate eyes in a dark face. "He says he's going to the city."

"And that was day before yesterday?"

"Yes, in the evening. We ain't heard nothing from him since."

Sally waved an afternoon newspaper in his eyes. Have you seen this?

"No, ain't seen nothin'." Clarence's eyes executed a sudden roll of apprehension. They ain't nothin' in it but a picture of a man."

Sally laughed—an unpleasant laugh, drawing back the corners of her lips from small predatory teeth. "Read it."

Tiptoe bent over. "Pa can't read," he said. "Lissen he has a magnifying glass. His eye is bad."

"What do you say?" Clarence wanted to know.

Tiptoe bent over the newspaper, reading slowly. "Says here, mister Michael is a lord or something," he said slowly. "It says how his daddy was a son of a lord in England or Ireland—and now mister Michael, seems he comes into the business."

"Exactly," Sally Moon, with a sound that was more like a snort than the sarcastic laugh she had intended, slipped down into the shabby porch chair. Over her linked, gloved hands she regarded the two snabby men.

"I believe you two know more about this than you pretend to," she said on a note of angry suspicion. "I believe you perfectly well know where Michael is."

"No'm. Clarence shook his head. "Well, I'm going to find out," Sally said swiftly. Before either one of them could stop her she had flung

ACCOUNTANT'S HEADACHES GONE—FEELS LIKE A MILLION NOW

A well-known accountant says he began to have headaches so often that he became alarmed. These headaches were accompanied by what he thought was indigestion. This gentleman says: "I finally decided my troubles came from a mild form of constipation. I had tried several so-called laxatives when a druggist told me about Eno's Fruit Salt. I had read and been told about Eno's for a hundred times, but it simply hadn't occurred to me that it might be what I needed. It didn't take me long to find out. I felt better almost at once. Within a week, I knew I had found the right treatment and I haven't had a headache now for months."

Eno's Fruit Salt has brought relief to millions who suffered from stomach trouble and constipation. It is an alkaline which neutralizes the acids in food. Eno's is a laxative which gently cleans the intestines of clogging, poisonous waste and restores regularity, thus removing the cause of many major and minor ills. To be normal is to be well. Let Eno help you back to normal in the most pleasant, simple way imaginable. Bewell, Bewell, Take Eno's Fruit Salt every day. There isn't an atom of harshness or harm in a carload. Handy size 35c. The Truth
About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN

The person who suffers from secondary anemia (deficiency of blood resulting from a disease), probably requires iron more than anything else, although it now is believed that copper is more likely to make the effect of the iron more certain.

The exact amount that may be prescribed by the doctor, which is the surest method of obtaining the required iron, is also possible to influence regeneration of the blood by giving foods rich in iron and in blood-building substances.

Here are the Dr. M. Fishbein foods known to be most useful in increasing the red coloring matter of the blood: Lamb's kidneys, beef kidneys, lamb's liver, chicken liver, pig kidneys, bone marrow, apples, apricots, prunes, peaches and raisins.

Among foods rich in copper are: kidney beans, lima beans, beef juice, green cherries, lentils, calves' liver, green olives, parsley, aloe, pineapple, pistachio nuts, apricots, walnuts, watermelon and wheat bran.

Investigations also have shown that vitamin A is important in the regeneration of the blood. Vitamin A may be prescribed by the physician in the form of cod liver oil or halibut liver oil, the latter being the natural food known to be richest in this vitamin.

Vitamin A also is found in large amounts in butter, egg yolk, milk, tomatoes, and such leafy vegetables as lettuce, spinach, cauliflower and cabbage.

TODAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Is there a vitamin P? If not, why was this letter skipped in naming the vitamins?

A.—There is such a vitamin: In Europe it is called vitamin P, in America it is known as B-1, though formerly it was called P in America also. When first recognized, it was designated by the most unused letter in the alphabet. Later research has proved that vitamin B consists of two elements, one identical with the element designated as vitamin P. Hence the vitamin P designation has been abandoned in this country in the interests of simplicity.

Vitamin B, then, consists of B-1 or P, destroyed by heat, and concerned in protection of the nervous tissues against beriberi and in stimulation of the appetite; and B-2, or G, not destroyed by heat, and possibly concerned in prevention of the deficiency disease known as pellagra.

Qu-Alex Club Has Merry Evening

The W.B.A. Qu-Alex Girls' Club met recently at the home of the Misses Mary and Lillian Laird, 3020 Jutland Road, Miss Annie Reid presiding. Miss Inez Green was the guest of honor.

Final arrangements were made for the dance to be held on Wednesday, March 25, at the K. of C. Hall. Tickets may be secured from members or at the Royal Dairy. Later in the evening games were played. The "peanut game" was won by Miss Thyrza Gaetz; consolation, Miss Inez Green. An amusing "pillowcase" race followed. The "mystery box" was won by Miss Ethel Malcolm, and the lucky cup held by Marjorie Harris. Miss Reid read the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by their mother, from a prettily decorated table centered with a bowl of narcissi, flanked by pale green tapers in silver sconces, while each place was marked by St. Patrick's bonbons and favors. Present were: Misses Annie Reid, Inez Green, Vera Kerlake, Barrie Taylor, Florence Malcolm, Kathleen Burnett, Kitty Ramsey, Thyrza Gaetz, Mary Laird, Kathleen Bowman, Winnie Welch, Christine Schmeiz, Lillian Laird, Marjorie Bowden, Marjorie Harris, Margaret Williams and Ethel Malcolm. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Kathleen Burnett, 1429 Richardson Street, on April 17.

COMPOSER WEDS ARTIST'S MODEL

Associated Press
New York, March 16.—Hoagland Carmichael, the man who composed "Stardust," married the girl on the magazine cover yesterday.

The twenty-three-year-old bride, Miss Ruth McInerdy, has posed often for McClelland Barclay, the painter, and he gave her in marriage to the song writer. George Gershwin played the piano—a recital of his own latest tunes—at the reception afterward, and Conrad Tibbault, the baritone, sang. A "swing" band furnished stomp music in between.

Carmichael and Miss McInerdy marched to the altar of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church to the strains of one of his own unpublished tunes, "The Wedding Song."

Only eight guests attended in the church where the bride's father once was pastor.

Mrs. J. Pritchard of Killarney, Manitoba, is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

unable way. She wants the child to obey, because she thinks her commands are reasonable and for the child's good, and often because she thinks obedience is a habit which the child must learn to practice.

EXPLAIN TO CHILD
My new leaflet, "Obedience and Punishment," will clarify some new concepts of obedience. It may be had for a self-addressed, stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

But do let children understand by simple explanations that impersonal but beneficial rules and regulations are what should be honored and obeyed, and it is because parents know the rules that the child should be guided by them.

The Quick Modern Way

to Lovely Hands

HANDS are in the limelight... finger-tips match lips as an accent on smart, modern make-up. Hands just have to look exquisitely cared for, be they ever so busy! Here's a cream whose job is to keep hands soft, white and beautiful. No matter how busy you are, you still have time for this delightfully easy and quick hand beauty treatment.

DO YOUR OWN WORK AND STILL BE PROUD OF YOUR HANDS

There's no excuse for even the busiest woman not having pretty hands when Pacquin's is so quick and easy to use. It feeds back into the skin all the softness that dishwashing and peeling vegetables take out. Just rub a tiny dab of Pacquin's into the hands every time you dry them. No waiting for a sticky hand-lotion to dry... hands smoother and whiter than they ever were! Pacquin's Hand Cream is utterly different from lotions that remain on top of the skin, leaving hands moist and sticky. It sinks deep, deep into inner tissues to feed the skin, making it smoother and suppler with the very first application. Use it as a night cream and watch your hands become softer, whiter, take on new beauty. Pacquin's leaves a satiny finish that serves as a make-up; use it as a quick "pick-up" for hands on occasions when you especially want them to look fresh and young. Make your hands lovelier this modern way.

BELGIUM AND FRANCE AGAIN UNITED BY "GERMAN PERIL"

Again little Belgium finds the menace of German arms at its door, no longer protected by the demilitarized zone since Chancellor Hitler sent his troops goose-stepping there. Ready to carry on in the valiant tradition of the brave army that fought so desperately to stem German invasion in 1914, its 1936 successors redouble their watch at the border forts. A spruce contingent of the well-trained army is pictured passing in review before young King Leopold III (right).

As troops were rushed to strengthen border garrisons to meet what the Paris government considered Germany's challenge in rearming the demilitarized Rhineland, French aviators prepared for any emergency that might develop out of the critical situation in Europe. This view of the military airport at Bron, near Lyons, gives an idea of the vast armada ready to take the air, while diplomats lined up other nations as allies in event of hostilities.

TEN CANADIAN SWIM RECORDS RIVER FLOODS EASED IN EAST

Windsor, Ont., March 16.—Ten Canadian records were established Saturday night as the Border Swimming Club held its first Ontario championship meet in Kennedy Collegiate's sixty-foot pool. United States swimmers were accepted for five records and Canadians the other five.

Gordon and Doris Kerr of the home club led the assault. Gordie hung up a new mark of 3:55.2 in winning the 300-yard medley for men. Doris established a new record of 29.1 in the 50-yard freestyle for women.

Halina Toniski, sensational Detroit star, bettered Helen Madison's Canadian 100-yard freestyle record by a full second, racing the distance in 1:01.6. Ray Kaye, Detroit, broke the 200 and 220-yard breaststroke marks.

Following were the record performances:
300-yard medley, men—Gordon Kerr, Windsor, 3:55.2
50-yard freestyle, women—Doris Kerr, Windsor, 29.1
200-yard breaststroke, men—Ray Kaye, Detroit, 2:22.7
100-yard freestyle, women—Halina Toniski, Detroit, 1:01.6
300-yard medley relay—Detroit A.C., 2:50

Junior Badminton Tourney at Duncan
Duncan, March 16.—The junior badminton tournament, scheduled for March 21 in the Agricultural Hall, there will be three classes, girls' singles and boys' singles and mixed doubles. The present holders of the titles are Joyce Thompson, Brentwood, girls' singles; Joyce Thompson and D. Woodward, Brentwood, mixed doubles, both of whom are too old to be eligible to play this year; and M. Beedham, Willows Club, boys' singles, who will compete.

Entries are expected from Victoria, Brentwood, Nanaimo and a large local contingent. Entries must be in the hands of the secretary of the

Duncan club, A. S. Appleby, by Thursday, March 19.

Some Sections of Belleville, Ont., Still Under Water

Belleville, Ont., March 16.—Railway workers today fought to prevent a washout at a culvert directly west of the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge over the Moira River. They drove piles into the earth in an effort to stop the erosion.

The situation in Belleville itself was improved today as some sections of the city experienced their fifth day under water. The lower reaches of Front Street are still flooded to a depth of several inches, but the highway from Murney's Hill to the lower bridge has been opened for traffic. Practically all ice has been removed from the streets.

Dredging of the Moira River is continuing and relief workers are cutting long channels from the mouth of the river far out into the Bay of Quinte to relieve the pressure in the river.

NEW ENGLAND RIVERS
Boston, March 16 (Associated Press).—Flood waters which had swirled over river banks and bridges for four days in New England taking a toll of ten lives, steadily receded today.

With streams in most of the affected sections back at normal levels, George H. Delano, chief engineer of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, estimated damage to the state's highways alone at $1,000,000.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By FETE SALLAWAY

GLOOM that fell on Victoria's basketball fraternity, following Friday evening defeat of the Dominions at the hands of the Vancouver Province in the opening game of the British Columbia senior men's championship series, has vanished today. Local supporters were all smiles again after watching this city's national champions turn around and whip the mainland squad on Saturday evening in a nerve-rattling exhibition. The Dominions had no easy time of it, but they proved their ability to come back, and that means a lot.

With the first two games played and only a lone point separating the clubs in total points scored, one realizes this year's series promises to be just as tight as that last season between the Blue Ribbons and Varsity. The Province took the first game by five points, and the Dominions the second by four. That gives an idea of how evenly matched the two great clubs are. Province will have the advantage after playing on their home floor in the remaining two or three engagements, but the Dominions, if they play up to form, should come through. They will have a tough fight on their hands as the Province are a big strong club that packs plenty of scoring punch. Saturday night the Dominions were a bunch of determined athletes, and if they carry the same fighting spirit into the game at Vancouver they will take some beating.

Today the city senior rugby championship is back in the hands of the Fifth Brigade for the second time in three seasons. Saturday the Gunners successfully turned back the challenge of the Bays-Wanderers after a stiff match. Two years ago the Fifth won the Barnard Cup only after a hard-fought battle.

With the city crown safely tucked away the Fifth have now got their eyes set on the British Columbia club championship and the Rounsfell Cup that goes with it. The fifteen will journey to Vancouver next weekend to engage the mainland champions in a sudden-death match for the mug. It is not decided yet which team will represent Vancouver. The Gunners will be at full strength for the match and with no injuries to hamper them should give a good account of themselves.

Victoria sport, and football in particular, lost one of its outstanding and popular members last week in the death of Freddy Price. His sudden passing came as a shock to his teammates and the innumerable friends he had made in this city's sports circles. As a valued member of the Victoria City first division eleven and the Victoria United entry in the Inter-city League, Freddy had a reputation for clean hard play. He played the game for the game's sake and liked to win but could take defeat with the same smile that marked victory. The referee has blown the final whistle but Freddy Price will long be remembered in this city where football is talked, and I extend my sympathy to his family.

Roseland Hoopers Win Over Kelowna

Kelowna, March 16.—The fast-stepping Roseland senior B men's basketball team Saturday evening outpointed the Famous Players of Kelowna, holders of the championship for the last five years, for a 52 to 35 win. The result gave the Roseland squad the two-game total-point series 58 to 65 by virtue of their 23 to 30 win over Kelowna on Friday night.

The outcome gave Roseland the right to meet Fortis of Vancouver in the final for the men's senior B crown. Assuming the lead from the first whistle, Roseland ran up point after point on Kelowna, mainly through the good play of Willoughby and Bardsley, ex-University of British Columbia hoop stars.

"P" Campbell played a smart game for the Famous Players, and it was mainly his good work which kept Kelowna winners from running up a still higher count.

Beat Americans And Chicago In Keen Struggles

MAROONS PUT OUT CANADIENS

Maroons 1, Toronto 0.
Maroons 3, Canadiens 1.
Toronto 2, Detroit 1.
Boston 1, Chicago 0.
Rangers 2, Americans 1.
Detroit 1, Canadiens 1.

The closest pre-play-off scramble in history, with seven of the eight starters fighting for favored spots and more cash, had the National Hockey League's paying clientele limp with excitement today. But not too limp, of course, to shell out for the fun that was yet to come.

There is another week of it before playoff berths are assigned. Another week will decide whether Montreal Maroons or Toronto Maple Leafs will represent the Canadian section in the N.H.L. finals, whether Detroit Red Wings or Chicago Black Hawks, or even the Boston Bruins, will win the American group.

CANADIENS OUT
The week-end jamboree of six games, packed in some of the season's greatest crowds, dropped Montreal Canadiens from contention, but otherwise served only to increase the tension. New York Americans were certain to finish third in the Canadian division and nothing else was certain at all.

Montreal Maroons, at their best in this close-to-the-vest slugging, accomplished two fine jobs of forechecking and regained the leadership of the Canadian section. They upset Toronto 1 to 0 before a crowd of 14,586 in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night. Dave Trotter pushed the puck into the net for the lone goal, over goalie George Hainsworth's stick. Heartened by this great chunk of good fortune, the Redmen went home and inaugurated Sunday night N.H.L. hockey in Montreal with a 3 to 1 triumph over Canadiens. Trotter scored another goal, but the important ones were bagged in the first period by Russ Blinco and Stew Evans, which followed a Canadian tally by Johnny Gagnon.

Maroons did not gain with their second win. They merely remained a point ahead of the Canadiens, who lost to Detroit and made a 3 to 0 overtime conquest of the stumbling Red Wings, without a victory in their last six starts. As always, the Wings were shot down with difficulty. Boston Bruins marked up a 1 to 0 win at home yesterday evening over Chicago, only to find the game old New York Rangers still on their heels. Lester Patrick's Blueshirts set down the Americans 2 to 1 before a crowd of 16,000 in Madison Square Garden. The Bruin-Black struggle attracted 12,000 and made Teddy Graham, blond Bruin defenseman, a hero. Where such crushing puck-carriers as Eddie Shore and Babe Siebert failed, the short-striding Graham succeeded in the second period. He scored his fourth goal of the season, of two seasons, in fact.

Graham snugged a Chicago rush near his goal, circled behind the net and skated up left wing. At the Hawk defence he engineered a neat shot that carried him around Earl Selbert and, in close on jumping Mike Karakas. His angle shot caught a corner of the cage.

This goal left Bruins one point ahead of Rangers, only three behind Chicago and four behind Detroit. But Rangers have played one more game than the Bruins and Hawks, and are still a long shot.

The Americans smashed down the Canadian defences in the third period of a hard-checking battle at New York. Butch Keeling, a noted money player, punched in the first Ranger goal and rookie Alex Shilbicky got the winner after Nels Stewart had scored for Americans. When it was over both teams were happy.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

FOR THE DISCOVERY OF NEWFOUNDLAND, JOHN CABOT WAS PAID ONLY £10 ($50) BY THE KING OF ENGLAND

CENSORED!

THE FIRST PHONOGRAPH DEMONSTRATED IN RUSSIA WAS SMASHED BEFORE THE Czar BECAUSE THE OPERATOR INADVERTENTLY PLAYED A RECORD OF KIROFF'S FABLES, BANNED BY CENSORS 50 YEARS PREVIOUSLY. THE OPERATOR WAS FINED AND PUT IN JAIL 3 MONTHS...

A strange trick of betting odds, together with a dead heat finish at Empire City, New York, in July, 1932, resulted in some bettors breaking even, others losing a little, but in spite of it everybody was able to cash in their tickets.

The race was between three horses—Star Fire, Apprentice and Pardee. Those who bet on the entry lost five cents on the dollar, those who bet on Pardee broke even.

Fifty years before the first phonograph was heard in Russia, for some reason or other, the old fables of Kiroff came under the ban of the censors. Then came the amazing new American invention—the phonograph. A demonstration in court was aranged for the strange new device that spoke like a man. During preparation for the demonstration in Russian were made—and by chance the recordings were of Kiroff's fables. When these banned words were spoken by the phonograph, angry officials seized the demonstrator, fined him and threw him in jail for three months. The phonograph itself fared no better—it was smashed to bits in the presence of the czar, all because of a fifty-year-old ban on the fables.

Portland Bucks In Play-off Victory

Defeat Vancouver Lions 3 to 2 in Opening Clash of Northwest Hockey League Series; Second Game Tonight; Winner Will Meet Seattle

Portland, March 16.—The Portland Buckaroos took the first step toward the finals of the Northwest Hockey League yesterday evening by defeating the Vancouver Lions, 3 to 2. The teams set a terrific pace.

Portland will play Vancouver at home tonight in the second game of the best two-out-of-three playoff to determine which will meet Seattle, league titlist, in the final series. In the early part of the first period the Buckaroos hammered consistently at the Vancouver net. The first score came in little more than a minute when Martin took a pass from Sutherland and lashed it into the net.

SCORE IS TIED
The Lions evened the score late in the period when O'Neill feinted Altkenhead slightly and whipped Smith's pass to the strings.

The second period was the fastest and roughest of the night. Portland drew ahead in little more than six minutes when Hemmerling whipped one in from the side, aided by a bounce from a group of players. Vancouver tied it up again in exactly one minute of the third period when O'Neill came through with the same kind of a shot which scored for Hemmerling.

The final score came about three minutes later when Hemmerling shot through from a difficult angle on a double assist from Arbour and Sorenson.

B.C. Hockey Champions Engage Prince Albert at Nelson on Wednesday

Nelson, March 16.—Hockey fans from the east and west Kootenays today were preparing for next Wednesday's amateur hockey classic here, when Prince Albert Minto's and Kimberley Dynamiters clash for the right to advance in the Allan Cup play-downs.

A capacity crowd of 2,100 for Nelson's recently-completed civic arena was predicted as word came from Kimberley that some 400 fans from that district would make the trip here on a special train with Dynamiters, while another special train will bring a similar number from Calgary.

Calgary, March 16.—Prince Albert Minto today plotted a course toward Nelson, B.C., where they will play Kimberley Dynamiters, British Columbia champions, in their next Allan Cup hockey play-down game Wednesday.

The Victoria squad started the scoring a few minutes after the whistle, when Dale curved the ball into the hoop. The visitors were unfortunate in basket netting despite snappy floor work.

At half time Vancouver led 32 to 10. After resumption the Vancouver squad continued the fast pace, while the island champions did their part, scoring thirteen points.

Varsity Wins Rugby Crown

Defeats Rowing Club 3 to 0 For Vancouver City Championship

Vancouver, March 16.—Tackling in deadly fashion and being much quicker on the ball than their opponents, University of British Columbia's fifteen, Saturday, captured the Miller Cup, representing the Vancouver City championship, beating Rowing Club, 3 to 0, in a sudden-death playoff, necessitated when both teams finished at the top of the league.

Lyle Wilson, left-wing three-quarter, went over for the all-important try fifteen minutes from time to decide a hard-fought game, which was played on a muddy pitch at Brockton Point.

Rowing Club came near scoring just before half time when Russ Kinnimont made a thrilling run from the half line and passed inside to Art Lungley, who was brought down right on the line with a grand tackle by Griffin, the Varsity full-back, who was subbing for Johnny Bird.

Varsity's full-back, Bird, was penalized for "feet up," but Atkinson's attempt to convert from a good position fell short.

A great run by Harry Robson led to Varsity's try. He sold a perfect dummy to Tommy Roxburgh in a forty-yard dash and was only pulled down right on the carmen's line. Six desperate scrums took place on the line before Dave Carey swung the ball out to Lyle Wilson, who went over near the left-corner flag. Carey's attempt to add the extra points from a difficult position failed.

CUNNINGHAM TAKES RACE

World Record-holder at Mile Winner Over Gene Venzke and Joe Mangan

New York, March 16.—In a race that was a farce on the stopwatch but a triumph in strategy, Glenn Cunningham, world record holder, whipped his two indoor rivals, Gene Venzke and Joe Mangan, Saturday night in the Columbia mile, feature of the annual Knights of Columbus games.

It was Cunningham's first victory on the Garden track this winter and his time of 4 minutes 46.8 seconds testified to the remarkable character of the race.

While an overflow crowd of 16,000 fans clapped, booed and jeered, the three great milers simply jogged around for nearly nine laps of the seventy-one lap journey on the banked boards.

On the backstretch of the ninth lap, Cunningham spurred, outflung Venzke for the pole position and outran his two rivals through the last two laps. The celebrated "iron horse," having saved everything for such a finish, sprinted across the finish line, three yards in front of Venzke and four yards ahead of Mangan.

Eddie O'Brien, Syracuse University flash, followed up a brilliant victory over Chuck Hornbostel, his Indiana rival, in the 600-yard race by anchoring a victorious orange quartette in the one-mile college relay.

BALLARD WINS HOCKEY
Seattle, March 16.—Ballard Ice hockey club defeated Vancouver waterfront team, 4 to 1, here yesterday.

Defeat Bays-Wanderers 8 to 5 in Sudden-death Game For Barnard Cup; Second Title in Three Years; Wanderers Whites Smother St. George's School Fifteen

Back on top of the local senior rugby heap after a season as runners-up, the Fifth Brigade's red and blue raiders today were mapping out a campaign to use against the mainland champions in the Rounsfell Cup final for the provincial club championship on the mainland this week-end.

On Saturday the Gunners, forced to the limit by a hard-fighting and dogged Bays-Wanderers squad, smashed their way to an 8-to-5 victory to win the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the senior city championship.

An angle gale whipped the rain-soaked pitch for the encounter and conditions were anything but good. The seniors took the field after Wanderers' Whites, city intermediate champions, had drubbed a plucky but light St. George's School, Vancouver, team 35 to 0 in a good preliminary.

The Gunners were full value for their verdict. The Bays-Wanderers put up a great stand but lacked the final to drive.

Making very fair use of the favorable gale, the Gunners forced as the game opened. Ellis Bays-Wanderers fullback, stopped nicely as they kicked ahead and then went down on the ball as they came back and kicked over the line. The Bays-Wanderers bucked back to centre. The Gunners secured and swung away on a smooth three-quarter run. Paul Rowe breaking through and passing to Simpson, Simpson gained but was brought down by Furgose's shoeing tackle.

GUNNERS PRESS
The Gunners' held play on the Bays-Wanderers' ten-yard line, moving across the pitch without being able to break through. Short bucks and a kick by Fisher gave the Gunners clear again and the combined squad pressed to the Fifth's fifteen-yard line. A free kick relieved and the Gunners held near centre. Eastham just missed a long kick for goal on a penalty.

From the twenty-five-yard line the Gunners bunched and forced down. Fleming took the ball from Stipe from a scrum and opened up a nice run, passing to Rowe. Rowe streaked down the wing, swerved past Ellis and circled behind the line to put the ball between the posts for the team's try. McInnes kicked the convert and the score stood 5 to 0.

Five minutes later the Gunners went down on a high kick by Rowe. Ellis fumbled trying to clear and played the ball on the ground. The referee gave the Gunners a kick right on the Bays-Wanderers' line, and McInnes put the ball over to make the score 8 to 0 shortly before half-time.

The Wanderers opened on the attack as the teams resumed play, the wind favouring that team on kicks. Six minutes from the rest period one of the Bays-Wanderers pointed the ball over the line and Rowe and Ferguson raced Ronnie Burns to touch it down. Rowe interfered with the latter and the referee ruled a penalty try, which Symcox converted for the Bays-Wanderers' only points.

KICK FAILS
The Fifth fought doggedly back to midfield after the kick-off had been returned. Brown secured and lifted one over the Gunners' line and the Fifth gained a twenty-five drop. The Bays-Wanderers came right back, but were held out. McConan tried for goal on a long penalty kick, but his effort was wide.

The Fifth Brigade started another series of backfield runs, but the three-quarters were called up for interference.

Turgose put down a long punt and the Bays-Wanderers gained the Gunners' fifteen-yard line. Dowell broke through to lead a dribble back to centre. The Brigade continued on and gained a ten-yard scrum, but the Wanderers got the ball to touch down for a safety when the formation broke.

Kicks and follow-up plays kept the Gunners pinned in their own ground as the Bays-Wanderers attacked, but the combined forces could not break through. One of the prettiest backfield movements of the day came well on in the half when Stipe snapped the ball to Rowe on the Bays-Wanderers' forty-five-yard line. Rowe drew his man and gave Fleming the ball for a lovely broken field run which carried him over the Wanderers' line. The referee ruled he did not touch the ball down, and the Bays-Wanderers gained a twenty-five-yard kick.

In the closing minutes of the last. (Turn to Page 12, Col. 9)

Dominoes Beat Province In Second Game of Basketball Series

Martin-Andrews Lead Locals to Four-point Win

Account For Twenty-six Points as Canadian Champions Victors 40 to 36

THIRD BATTLE FRIDAY NIGHT

Victoria Dominoes and Vancouver Province were all even at one game apiece in their British Columbia senior men's basketball championship series, following a smashing 40 to 36 victory by the local champions in the second game of the best three-out-of-five series at the High School gym on Saturday evening. The Province took the opening clash Friday evening 42 to 37.

Playing before another packed house Saturday, the Dominoes hit their real form to nose out the mainland representatives by four points. The Canadian champions led 14 to 13 at half-time. The series will be resumed in Vancouver with the third and fourth games on Friday and Saturday evenings. The fifth game, if necessary, will be played in the mainland city next Monday night.

Burnett, local intermediate B girls, defeated the visiting Courtney quintette 22 to 16, in the first game of a home-and-home total-point series for the island championship. In the preliminary battle of the evening, at the breather the teams were tied 9 to 9.

FIRST HALF

The teams traversed the length of the floor a number of times before Albert "Red" Martin, shooting from centre, dropped in a beautiful basket for the game's opening points. Following up on this, Andrews hoisted in a beauty from close in, and was fouled in his attempt by Purves and made about the line shot to give the Dominoes a 5 to 0 lead. Shortly after Osborne tried a long shot from the side, but it rebounded and C. Chapman captured it to send the locals off again, when Martin took Andrews rebound to register under the hoop.

The Dominoes had successfully kept the visitors from scoring up to time, but after three minutes

Osborne's floater from the side was good, and Kennington added another two points seconds later. C. Chapman accounted for a free shot. Vancouver's score went to six when Purves got two baskets from the throw line.

The teams went into an 8 to 8 deadlock just as nine minutes sounded, when Macdonnell and Kennington each got one of their two free throws after being fouled by Andrews and A. Chapman, respectively. Art Chapman got his third personal of the game soon after when he blocked Kennington, who made good and gave his team the lead. Purky Andrews got away on a fine solo rush and looped the ball in from under the basket and reversed the lead. Martin missed a line shot, Kennington fouled Peden. He missed, and the score still stood 10 to 8. Kennington was replaced by Armstrong. On receiving a pass from A. Chapman soon after the substitution Andrews shot from the side for two points. With three and one-half minutes to go of the half, the Province team called time out. The local's score went up when Peden scored. With Vancouver putting on the pressure all of a sudden, Burnstead got two in succession, and brought his team to within one point of the locals. C. Chapman, working well on the defence, intercepted a sure set-up for Purves, just as the whistle for the interval sounded. Victoria was leading 14 to 13.

SECOND HALF
Coming in fast at the resumption of play, Armstrong, who replaced Purves at the jumping position, scored two consecutive baskets before one minute was gone, and again the Province moved to the front. A. Chapman's one-handed shot from the side rebounded off the board and was recovered by the visitors. Peden missed a foul throw, but followed up on a single effort plunge, to dribble his way through the entire Province defence and register beneath the basket. He missed the free shot that resulted when Kennington blocked him. Burnstead made good free throw. Again the score was tied 18 to 18 when Andrews tipped in a fine shot.

While attempting to score Martin was fouled by Macdonnell and made both line shots count, but Doug followed up on this, to score on A. Chapman's rebound, which gave Victoria a four-point majority. This was cut to two, as six minutes of the half elapsed and Kennington looped in a beauty from near centre on the side. Macdonnell got a free shot for Vancouver, and Purky registered a basket for Victoria. The Canada team's play in fine form at this time, and Art Chapman plunged the leather into the hoop from Peden's pass and then came through again with his famous one-handed side shot. Victoria was enjoying a 26 to 16 lead at this time.

C. Chapman and Andrews made a free shot apiece for the Dominoes. Two tallies by Armstrong and Purves, respectively, cut down the Province team's deficit. Victoria called time out. Armstrong made a free shot good. Following a nice passing movement of the Dominoes, Martin registered a basket, and two shots were muffed by the visitors. Osborne made good on Peden's foul, and Martin got one out of two. Macdonnell went off on personals and was replaced by Wright. Smith took Armstrong's place. With five minutes to go the score stood 33 to 26.

Osborne's free shot was good, and seconds later he helped Burnstead to score a set-up. Letting loose a well-directed shot from the side, Wright brought the score to 33 to 31. Martin worked in close and flipped in the leather and scored on the free throw when Osborne tried to stop him. Peden's free throw increased the local's total to 37, and Wright, shooting with uncanny skill, plopped a long-shot in. With two minutes left, Peden registered a free shot. Burnstead added three points for the Province. Andrews was successful with a free throw.

With but one minute to play, Art Chapman was called to the bench on personals. Province called time out. Wright missed a basket and Martin finished the scoring on making good a free throw, which brought the final score to 40 to 36.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Pennscola.—The mayor declared a half-holiday as the New York Giants opened their exhibition series with the Cleveland Indians yesterday, but from the looks of the crowd most of the Pennscola inhabitants were fishing. These two teams go after each other again today.

Bradenton.—Jim Collins of the St. Louis Cards in doubling on the typewriter these days, sitting down after work to pound out a yarn for his home-town paper.

Meanwhile the Dizzy Dean situation remained unchanged, at least until Branch Rickey reaches the scene late today.

West Palm Beach.—Rogers Hornsby said he would use most of his rookies when the St. Louis Browns play the House of David in an exhibition game today. Leonard Schopp, Earl Caldwell and Howard Mills were expected to see mound duty.

Fort Myers.—In a revision of the Philadelphia Athletics' plan, Connie Mack has assigned George Puccinelli, home run king of the International League last year, to left field, with Wally Moses staying in right instead of filling Cramer's place in centre, and giving the latter position to Robert Lee Johnson.

Ventura, Cal.—Threatening to remove his Portland baseball team to less foggy climes for the remainder of spring training, manager Max Bishop took his batters to Santa Monica today to play the Seattle Indians in a two-game series.

Indicating a camp may be pitched at Bakersfield, Bishop said many of his players were bothered with sore arms caused by dampness and lack of sunshine. Fog has consistently blotted out the sun at Seaside Park. Ralph Samhammer, former Ventura Junior College star, landed a catcher's contract as a reward for promising work this spring. He tried out with Oakland last year.

Fresno, Cal.—Don Johnson, young Mission third baseman, slammed out a triple and two two-base hits when the easily defeated the San Francisco Seals 9 to 2 in the first of their three-game exhibition series yesterday.

Modesto, Cal.—Ray Koch, second baseman, and Joe Gordon, shortstop, former University of Oregon stars, are pronounced by the New York Yankee scouts to be two of the best Yankee prospects here. They were considered for Oakland posts but will be sent soon to one of the Yankees' providing teams where the scouts said they will have better opportunity for development. The Oregon boys are quick on double plays and promise to become good batmen, the scouts said.

Dempsey, Kearns Bury Hatchet

A grudge of ten years' standing was patched up in Chicago when Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, the former champ's one-time manager, shook hands and buried the hatchet. The two, who had not spoken to each other since 1926, were in the corners of their respective prospects, Red Burman and Hank Bath. Just before the battle, which Dempsey's boy, Burman, won, they met in the centre of the ring, as shown above, and renewed their friendship.

Here at Sarasota pervades probably the most aristocratic atmosphere in baseball training camp history. Meals are served in full courses, the players are cheered like transatlantic hopes when they drill. They change clothes two or three times daily and work out two hours every morning.

HAS TEAM TO BEAT
Cronin has made a flat prediction he has the team to beat.

"Let them take pot shots at us, let them hoot and holler," he said softly. "We've got the best team in the American league and we think we are going to win the pennant."

"Furthermore, I don't see where they get the idea we have an old men's club here. Of the probable regulars, Manush is the only man over thirty, except for Walberg and Grove. I'll come out right now with the prediction that we think we can win in 1936, 1937 and 1938. We've got a young ball club and we're building for the future—not just for 1936."

Cronin is planning on Grove, Wes Ferrell, Johnny Marcum and Fred Ostermuller to make up his "big four" among the pitchers. Joe Casarella, Walberg, Johnny Welch and Manuel Salvo probably will complete the hurling corps.

The Red Sox probably will open the season with this powerful line-up: Mel Amada, Dusty Cooke or Art Grant, right field; Roger Cramer, centre field; Manush, left field; Fox, first base; Cronin, shortstop; McInnis, second; Bill Werber (still a holdout), third; and Rick Ferrell, Catcher.

Werber will sign up alright," said Cronin. "But if he shouldn't John Cronin might be a capable substitute there. He looks like a comer to us."

With a 48 to 38 victory over University of Washington.

SKIDDING CAR CRASHES TREES

Driver Has Narrow Escape After Auto Jumps Embankment

Jack Napper, 151 Government Street, miraculously escaped death in an accident on Esquimalt Road about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, according to the Esquimalt police.

Mr. Napper was driving east on the highway and as he neared the sharp curve at Macaulay Road his car went into a skid.

Leaving the road the machine crashed against the guard railing, knocking several feet of it down. It continued on, smashing the pedestrian railing along the sidewalk, then plunged over a seven-foot embankment, landing on its side, wedged between oak trees.

Mr. Napper came out of the crash with minor bruises, scratches and a shaking-up. He was alone at the time.

When the car was being removed it was necessary to cut down two oak trees. It was wedged so tightly between them. Police said the machine skidded over 240 feet.

SEES DOOM OF MAJOR PARTIES

Political Change Coming, Tom Uphill Tells Gyros

"In the next elections in British Columbia neither one of the major parties is going to get a majority—that is my opinion," said Tom Uphill, Labor M.P.P. for Fernie, in the course of a talk on "My Version of Provincial Politics" at today's Gyro Club luncheon.

"After traveling up and down the province I find that the artisans and professional men are dissatisfied. Security in their own homes and their children is a continual bugbear and worry."

"The change is going to be brought about by the intellectuals, who see that change is needed, and what they are up against, and who cannot be swayed one way and another like the man in the street."

Under the present system, and with the advances in science and invention, said Mr. Uphill, the unemployed of today would never find employment.

There was only one difference between Liberals and Conservatives, he said. "The ones that's in wants to stay in and the ones that's out wants to get in," he said.

"Both of the old line parties are financed by the corporate interests—and they call the tune," he added.

DEPUTIES DO WORK

He would have no qualms about accepting a cabinet position in the province, said Mr. Uphill, because "you don't require any ability to fill any cabinet position in the province of British Columbia. The deputies are the ones that do the work."

On the subject of relief, Mr. Uphill said, "The governments, both municipal and provincial, adopt some of the most insane ideas. They put a steam shovel in the bars and put men to work with wheelbarrows and shovels. I could go one better than that. We could furnish them with a teaspoon and table fork, and give work to more men that way."

On the subject of health insurance, Mr. Uphill said: "I am going to vote against it—not that I am opposed to health insurance, but because I believe in a real bill and not a skeleton."

"The unemployed don't come into the scope of the act—and unemployment is the main industry in my constituency."

Mr. Uphill believed that the mining companies and the old-line insurance companies could offer better terms than the bill.

Mr. Uphill spoke at length on the Corbin troubles, attaching the blame to the higher police officials.

Mr. Uphill was introduced by William Hudson.

Kubelik Here With Wizardry

Noted Violinist Has His $100,000 Stradivarius and $1,000,000 Hands

Jan Kubelik, wizard of the bow, and probably the most celebrated virtuoso violinist of the present day, arrived in Victoria by the Seattle boat today to fill an engagement this evening at the Empire Theatre.

The noted violinist is accompanied by his twenty-one-year-old son, Rafael, and his daughter, Anita, both of whom will appear with him in recital.

Kubelik expressed his pleasure today at starting his western Canadian tour at Victoria, which he remembers from his former visits as a city as musical as it is beautiful.

He brought with him his "glorious Emperor Stradivarius," said to be the most famous violin in existence. All his programmes are given on this violin. Although the artist would not part with this instrument at any price, violin experts value it in excess of $100,000.

The finely-chiseled hands of the violinist are possibly the most dexterous in the world, and are frequently referred to as the artist's "million dollar hands."

The violinist is fifty-five years of age. He has returned to this continent after an absence of fourteen years, and wherever he has been he has been received rapturously by his audiences.

Kubelik started out on his present tour at Montreal and Toronto in January, after which he made the circuit of the United States, coming on here from Portland via Seattle. He was playing in Toronto on the night of the death of King George V, and probably the most emotional thing he has ever done was the playing of the last bars of "God Save the King," holding his vast audience spellbound.

NEW SCHOOL

Kubelik was the first of the new school of European violinists who set out to show that the reputedly unique technical feats of Paganini were not unique at all.

Kubelik comes from Bohemian peasant stock. His father, a lover of the violin, was quick to encourage his son's budding talent as a violinist. He made every sacrifice to send the boy to Prague Conservatory, where under the tutelage of Ottokar Cevk, the greatest violin master of that day, Kubelik became a virtuoso of astonishing attainments.

After the first discouraging efforts to establish himself as an artist, Kubelik came under the notice of a wealthy Austrian, who, realising that the young man was virtually the reincarnation of the almost mythical Paganini, presented him with a valuable Guarnerius violin and underwrote his first concert tour.

Properly backed, Kubelik quickly won fame and fortune. His first tours on both sides of the Atlantic were sensational, and his popularity was undiminished up to the time of the World War.

Upon his marriage to the Countess Szell, before the war, he became a Hungarian subject. It became impossible for him to resume his concert work until after the Armistice.

Since the war Kubelik has been to nearly every corner of the world. All Europe, even Asia and Australia, have repeatedly hailed his tours with enthusiasm.

As Kubelik will appear with his father this evening in Bach's double concerto, his son, Rafael, who already has made a name for himself as a composer and guest conductor of some of the finest orchestras in Europe and on this continent, is his father's accompanist.

Give Your Child This Chance

With the first school lessons let your boy or girl begin piano study... the first steps in each branch of education are made simple and interesting under modern tuition methods. Then as children advance to youth and adolescence they develop a confidence in their own ability which serves them well in after life. Ability to play the piano brings them in contact with people worth knowing. The first step, of course, is to acquire a piano, and in this regard we invite your enquiry because we carry the largest stock of pianos in Victoria, both new and reconditioned.

"Chinatown Squad" At the Columbia

In the realm of mystery drama the screen has shown no more absorbingly interesting film play than "Chinatown Squad," the Universal picture which opened at the Columbia Theatre today.

The story deals with a mysterious murder committed in San Francisco's Chinatown, and the efforts of a bumptious bus-driver and a white girl masquerading as an Oriental, to unravel the crime. The picture has been lavishly staged and the background depicting beautiful Chinese wood carvings are an artistic delight.

The direction of Murray Roth has maintained the story on a swiftly moving plane, with comedy and tense scenes nicely balanced throughout the picture. Lyle Talbot, Valerie Hobson, Hugh O'Connell and Andy Devine, are great also being shown as the second feature is "The Awakening of Jim Burke," starring Jack Holt.

SPECIAL PIANO FOR KUBELIK

When Kubelik plays here next Monday evening at the Empire Theatre on his Emperor Stradivarius, he will be accompanied by his son Rafael on a Willis Concert Grand brought over specially for this occasion from Vancouver. Immediately after the concert this piano will be rushed back on the night boat in order that it may be used in Vancouver the next night by the same great artist.

Mr. Willis, head of that firm of piano manufacturers, tells a tale of when Kubelik first played in Montreal under his management. He used a Knabe piano and as he stepped off stage after his first number a cable was handed him, which read "Knabe" (the German for "boy"). That same "Knabe" whose birth was thus announced, is the Rafael who will play here with his father.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

The manicurist's uniform worn by Carol Lombard, Paramount actress, in her newest picture, has been adopted as the official garb for the waitresses in the studio commissary.

Miss Lombard and Fred MacMurray are featured in Paramount's "Hands Across the Table," gay comedy romance, adapted from the original story, "Bracelata," by Vina Delmar, and which comes today to the Playhouse Theatre.

A sprightly fun fest of a working girl's everyday life, "Hands Across the Table" pictures the adventures that befall an attractive, ambitious manicurist when she sets out to marry for money, on the theory that a rich husband is worth more than a loving one.

Rear-Admiral Byrd's "Little America" is the other feature.

Pulpwood continued light in the eastern division and the total showed a decline of 976 cars; ore decreased 292, miscellaneous 291, coke 99 and livestock 64.

FINE SINGERS WITH COMPANY

Bianca Saroya Will Sing Leading Role in "Aida" on March 31

Bianca Saroya, who will sing the title role in "Aida," on Tuesday, March 31, at the Royal Victoria Theatre, is a dramatic soprano of lovely voice coupled with excellent power and her histrionic gifts are in constant keeping with her vocal gifts. Aida's solo in the first act and her duet with Amnaro, baritone, in the second act, are among the high spots in the opera.

Amnaro, the mezzo-soprano role, will be sung by Lyuba Senderova, Russian prima donna, who has been singing eleven years in Germany's leading opera houses, has a voice of luscious quality in all its ranges. Aroldo Lindi, Swedish dramatic tenor, who sings and acts the role of Rhamdes, is possessed of a golden quality of voice, which in the dramatic moments, reaches unusual volume.

Moslyn Thomas, Welsh baritone, is said to give one of the finest interpretations of Amnaro, father of Aida, for he has a fine vocal organ. Another outstanding voice of the company is that of Harold Kravitt, American basso, who sings the part of Ramfis, high priest. Nalae Ceyr, as King of Egypt; Francesco Curi, as the messenger, and Charlotte Bruno as the priestess, complete the list of capable singers in the chief roles.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Modern Times," Charlie Chaplin's long-awaited new comedy, which is at the Capitol Theatre today, introduces to film fans the comedian's lovely new leading lady, Paulette Goddard.

Miss Goddard, a radiant young brunette beauty, is a graduate of the musical comedy stage and the Hal Roach comedies. She is Chaplin's own discovery and has been pronounced the greatest find in a decade.

The comedy, which is said to be the comedian's greatest and funniest to date, finds Chaplin again the lovable little tramp whom he has endeared to millions, but this time the serio-comic little figure wanders through somewhat different settings.
